ROB DE LUXE TRAIN IN CITY

LOWDEN GAINS AS G. O. P. HOLDS COUNTY MEETS

Illinois Delegates Bound Tighter.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Speaking through Republican county conventions held throughout the state, Illinois went solidly for Frank O. Lowden for President yesterday. Even in Chicago, where Mayor Thompson's political leaders had recognized there was nothing to be gained by butting into a stone wall at the state meeting at Springfield next Friday, the Cook county convention dropped the mayor's "America first" and "draft Coolidge" platform and displayed an intention to go along peacefully with the rest of the party in the state.

From downstate, reports from one county after another were that Lowden had been endorsed and that the state delegates had been instructed to vote for him at Springfield. So general was this action that there were predictions that the state meeting will adopt the unit rule and instruct its entire national delegation of 61 to vote for Lowden until he releases them.

Thompson Convention Delegate.

This would be still one more shock to Mayor Thompson who is a national convention delegate from the Ninth congressional district, but it is not expected he will attempt to organize opposition as he not only consented to keep his fingers out of the Cook county meeting, but absented himself from the entire session.

The only string on which he kept a hold was his appointment as a member of a committee of three that is to prepare a county platform and submit it to the judicial convention on May 3—after the state convention is over.

For the time being at least the mayor passed out of the political picture for, in addition to remaining away from the local meeting, he apparently will not try to attend the state convention. His name was not among the 1,340 turned in as the county's delegates to the state capital meeting. State Senator Herman J. Haenle, who beat him for committee of the Forty-third ward, said he received no request to include the mayor among his appointees.

Retains Galpin as Chairman.

As far as it wanted to, the machine voted out its intention to walk all over the Deen minority. By a one vote it elected the state officers headed by County Chairman Homer K. Galpin, but there it stopped its ruthlessness and, as a matter of fact, a substantial olive branch was extended to the Lowden-Deen-Emmerson people in the form of delegation to the state convention.

The primary law says plainly the precinct committeemen from the county towns shall act as a unit in selecting its block of 273 delegates, but, even knowing that and being reminded of it, Chairman Galpin and the other managers permitted each of the districts to name its own Springfield delegates.

Strengthens Lowden Forces.

If the vote of the country towns had been taken as a unit, the Thompson-Crowe forces again could have swamped the Deen leaders, but by letting each section speak for itself the Lowden strength in the state meeting was increased by at least three district lists, those from Evanston, New Trier, and Oak Park, and it is believed many more pro-Lowden delegates were scattered through the other lists, as the Thompsonian was not drawn in making them up.

In other words, having decided that it was licked last Tuesday, the steering committee had decided that the thing to do was to let the Emmerson state ticket candidates run the state convention without interference from Chicago's mayor. They even persuaded the mayor to accept that program.

They are said to have told him he'd better let down rather than take another beating at Springfield.

In fact, that was just about what Chairman Galpin announced in calling the gathering to order.

For Harmony First.

"We have been through a grueling campaign," he said, "but it is now the duty of those who conducted that part of it to manage from this hotel the Republican party be assembled into one organization for the fall campaign."

"It is our desire so to conduct this convention and so to direct our delegates to the state convention that the chance of the successful candidates for the fall and rule in the party organization. It will be in harmony with all of ours if there is no harmony." With about 425,000 votes required

FOUR BANDITS LOOT COACHES, ESCAPE IN DARK

Fifteen Passengers Are Victims.

Four armed and masked robbers stepped into the observation car of the North Western railroad's Overland limited shortly after it left the terminal last night and compelled fifteen passengers to surrender their money and jewelry.

Then, while two of the four guarded the passengers, the other two passed into the dining car and compelled the steward to hand over several hundred dollars he had in his desk.

Several Thousand Lost.

No exact figures on the amount of the loot were available, but railroad detectives estimated that from $5,000 to $7,000 in money and possibly as much more in jewelry was taken.

Among those known to have been robbed were W. H. Crocker, an official of the Crocker National bank of San Francisco, and a member of the Republican national committee, and his daughter, Mrs. Helen Russell. Mr. Crocker from West Chicago wired his brother, W. W. Crocker, president of the bank, that Mrs. Russell had saved her jewels, worth several thousand dollars, by hiding them as the robber approached them. Mr. Crocker was said to have lost $1,500.

Keane Fitzpatrick, Pacific coast representative of Liberty Magazine, and a man known only as "Jerry" also were in the car with the Crockers and were said to have had their wallets and jewelry taken. Others reported robbed are:

H. Russell of Cheyenne, Wyo., loss $200; Eustance Cullen of San Francisco, loss $472; Joseph Hurst of Bristol, Conn., $150; R. W. Bailey of Bristol, 25; and F. Bates, en route to Cheyenne, $250.

Stop Train to Jump Off.

After completing the robbery, the four bandits pulled the emergency cord shortly before the train arrived at the Kedzie avenue station, leaped off into the yards and disappeared in the shadows.

According to the story received by the police from the railroad detectives, the train left the terminal at 8:10 p. m. At the railroad offices it was said that all the passengers in the observation car were lined up, but that the majority of the passengers were in the Pullman cars preceding it and were not robbed.

Only two members of the train crew, the porter and the flagman, were in the rear car. The conductor was in one of the forward coaches.

Train Proceeds After Robbery.

The train stopped only a few minutes after the robbery and then proceeded westward. Officials of the railroad here were without data on all the names of the persons robbed, but announced that they had wired to points on the westward journey for full information.

Ordinarily the train does not stop at Kedzie avenue, and the halt was made only for the purpose to transmit a short report to detectives.

Jas. J. Jeffries on Board.

Among the passengers on the Overland as it pulled out for the coast was James J. Jeffries, former heavy-weight champion of the world, but the investigators stated that they did not know whether he was one of those held up.

As soon as the police were notified Lieut. John Norton of the detective bureau and his squad were hurried to the Warren avenue police station to take charge of the investigation. They declared that they would not be able to proceed until they had more definite information.

All of the men, it was said, appeared to be young and of dark complexion. They wasted little time with their work and proceeded to the search after telling their victims that they would not be harmed if they made no resistance.

Norway Parliament Beats Bill to Reduce King's Pay

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) OSLO, Norway, April 16.—An unsuccessful attempt was made in the storming tonight by the labor party to reduce the royal grant. A proposal to knock off 600,000 kroner ($100,000) from the 700,000 kroner ($116,900) royal allowance failed. A labor proposal to abolish altogether the crown's prince's $6,000 kroner ($11,250) yearly state allowance also failed.

SINCLAIR LEWIS IS DIVORCED BY RENO, NEV., COURT

Reno, Nev., April 16.—(AP)—Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street," was divorced in District court here today by Grace Hegger Lewis. She charged desertion.

Custody of a 10 year old son, Wells Lewis, was awarded to Mrs. Lewis. Alimony of $1,000 a month so long as the author's income remains at $45,000 a year or more, is provided for Mrs. Lewis in an agreement made by the couple. If his income falls below $45,000, Mrs. Lewis is to receive a percentage of such income, the agreement provides.

Lewis has also not added a trust fund of $50,000 for the benefit of the son, who will receive the income until he reaches the age of 25 years. If the boy should die such income will go to his mother. Lewis and Grace Hegger were married in New York April 15, 1914, and have only the one child.

MORSE NECKLACE SUIT IS TAKEN TO FEDERAL COURT

Suit to recover $90,000 as damage to a necklace valued at $200,000 was transferred yesterday from the Circuit court to the federal court. The suit was filed on behalf of Mrs. Rosalie D. Morse, wife of Col. Robert H. Morse, chairman of the board of directors of the Fairbanks-Morse company.

The suit is against the Automobile Insurance company of Hartford, Tenn., and alleges that the insurance company refuses to pay for damage to the necklace, which is of graduated pearls, and insured by them. The complaint recites that the necklace was insured for $200,000, a premium of $1,887 was paid annually, and while in Paris the necklace was accidentally dropped and damaged. The string contains a pearl weighing 19.64-100 grains, which is valued at $40,500.

Find 400 Quarts of Booze in Office of Stern Dry Judge

Seaside Heights, N. J., April 16.—(AP)—Declared by the prosecutor, to have been sentencing bootleggers to years of imprisonment, Otto Geyler, justice of the peace here himself was arrested today and held under $3,000 bail on a charge of illegally possessing liquor. The arrest followed upon a raid on Geyler's office, led by Prosecutor J. Mercer Davis of Ocean county. The prosecutor stated that more than 400 quarts of alleged liquor and "home brew" were confiscated, as well as a large collection of bottles, coloring extracts, and utensils.

Board Rejects Contract with Son of Coath

Rumblings of protest against the administration of School Board President J. Lewis Coath, who calls himself "Iron Handed Jack," became loud yesterday when H. Wallace Caldwell, 33 year old school trustee, led a revolt against an attempt to swing a $1,500, 603 contract to Coath's son's construction company.

When the fight ended Trustee Caldwell stood out as the most likely candidate for the board's president at the election in May; young Coath's bid was rejected and the Thompson "sold six" was left with a remnant of his former support.

Leads to New Lineup.

Although dissension among the solid six has been brewing since the end of the trial of William McAndrew, the split yesterday came as a surprise. When the session closed a coalition was apparent between the anti-Coath-Thompson members and what, until yesterday, was the minority group.

Those who voted against the awarding of the contract are Trustees Caldwell, Walter Brandenburg, Mrs. Helen Hefferman, Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, Oscar Durante, Charles J. Vopicka and Coath. Those who favored the award are James A. Hemingway, Theophilus Schmidt, and John A. English. James Mullenbach, an anti-administration trustee, was not present.

Concerns Austin High School.

The contract question came before the board as a recommendation from the building and grounds committee of which Theophilus Schmidt is chairman. It recommended the awarding of the contract to the Harvey A. Hanson company, of which Virgil Coath is vice president. He is the son of the school board president. The contract asked for construction of the new Austin High school to be erected at Pine and West End avenues.

Trustee Caldwell interrupted an attempt to put the report in the omnibus and asked that it be temporarily deferred. "This matter is of such importance," he said, "I would like to have it submitted to a roll call."

Brandenburg Votes "No."

Trustee Brandenburg was the first to vote "no" on the roll call. "If this bid is awarded to the Hanson company we will lead the public to believe that we are handing out gilded contracts on golden platters to the members of the board of education and their families," he declared. Trustee Caldwell in casting his vote declared: "The board of education now has a rule which prevents teachers from selling books written by them to the Chicago schools. It is just as unethical for the board to award a bid to the Hanson firm because of the fact that one of the members of the board of education is interested in the company through a family connection."

Trustee Schmidt voted in favor of awarding the contract after explaining he believed that he was doing the right thing when, as a committee chairman, he sanctioned awarding the contract to young Coath's company.

Trustee Hemingway said there was nothing irregular about the Hanson company bid. Trustee English ascertained the Hanson company had been thoroughly investigated.

Coath Explains; Votes "No."

In the face of a 6 to 3 defeat the question came to President Coath for his vote. He voted "no," prefacing his vote with this explanation: "My position in this matter is delicate, but I favor an investigation of the company. I do not think there is any question that no member of this board is financially interested in the company. But I favor a thorough investigation. It is due to me, to the board and to the taxpayers. I vote no."

Then Trustee Hemingway arose, asking that his vote be changed from "yes" to "no." Schmidt and English, taking their cue from Coath, (Continued on page 4, column 3.)

To Mrs. Arthur C. Nelson, 7347 Vernon avenue, Chicago's crime is not a vague, abstract matter.

Her 7 year old son, Clifford, died in the Jackson Park hospital last night of gunshot wounds. Her husband, a 45 year old clerk for the Standard Oil company, is in the same hospital and physicians hope that bullet wounds in his chest may not prove fatal.

The father and son were in the way Sunday evening when three young burglars who had been looting the Nelson home started to leave by the rear door. One of the prowlers fired four times. His aim was accurate and he was only a yard or so from Nelson and little Clifford.

Three Youths Confess.

Father and son fell and the burglars, with the screams of Mrs. Nelson in their ears, escaped temporarily. A few hours later they were arrested and confessed.

"It has come home to me," said Mrs. Nelson. "I realize now how terrible conditions are. It all seems so useless. My husband and I had devoted our best years to rearing a family. Things weren't always easy, but we had reached what we thought were better days. And then this happened."

"It seems to me that all those years only built up something that criminals could destroy in a minute or two. I wish I could arrange things so no other mother would have to go through what I am going through."

Used Auto of Father.

The burglars are Roger Bonny, 19 years old, and Henry Raczynski, 20 years old, both of 3235 South Hamilton avenue, and Paul Gressman, 23 years old, 3317 South Hoyne avenue. They are amateurs in crime, so little schooled in the trade of burglary that they used the automobile of Bonny's father in their expedition to the Nelson home.

It was through the license number of this car, taken by a passing pedestrian who saw them leap into it after the shooting, that they were traced by the police. They readily admitted their identity when Capt. Patrick McCauley, Lieut. William Cusack and Sergeants John Foley and A. Hoffman arrested them.

Youths Reluctant Shooting.

They did more. They were taken to the Nelson bungalow, where they calmly re-enacted the shooting. Bonny admitted that he was the one who fired. And a little later the trinkets they had taken, worth about $100, were recovered.

The trio will be arraigned on a murder charge today as the result of the death of little Clifford.

Bonny's mother, like Mrs. Nelson, was puzzled by the seeming lack of reason for the crime.

"Roger was always a good boy," she said. "A little wild and headstrong, but I never believed he was bad. I couldn't have dreamed that he'd do a thing like that. Perhaps I've been too good to him—I tried to be easy with him because I believed I had been reared too strictly myself."

REPAIR PLANE AS IRISH FLYER QUILTS ICY ISLE

Fitzmaurice on Way in Rescue 'Ship.'

QUEBEC, April 17 (Tuesday).—(Canadian Press).—The German plane Bremen, with Capt. Koehl as pilot and Baron von Huenefeld, a passenger, will fly from Greenly island to Quebec City on the first stage of its continued flight to New York City. Here the German members of the crew will join Maj. James Fitzmaurice, now en route to Quebec, and the plane and its crew, in fact again, will continue to New York.

The purpose of Maj. Fitzmaurice's flight from Greenly island, en route to Quebec, was revealed here this morning. He is returning so that, with first hand knowledge, he can select the repair parts necessary to put the Bremen in running order again.

A message from Baron von Huenefeld early today indicated that these parts can be easily transported by airplane to Greenly island. The Bremen requires new tires or skis to replace the three burst in the landing, a new propeller, some parts for the undercarriage, and some engine parts.

Will Repair Bremen.

It has been arranged for Maj. Fitzmaurice to wait in Quebec for the Bremen and the other members of the crew. The sister ship of the Bremen, the Junkers F-13, will provide the spare parts necessary to repair the Bremen, the two ships being identical in construction as regards essential parts.

Messages from Baron von Huenefeld leave no doubt that the intention is to repair the Bremen and to conclude the trip with the plane as it was begun. Maj. Fitzmaurice is spending the night at Nantashquan, 600 miles from Quebec, on the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and expects to continue his flight in the Canadian Transcontinental plane with Duke Schiller at the controls early this morning. A stop will likely be made at Murray Bay, with his arrival at Quebec City expected some time this afternoon.

Schiller to Lead Way.

Present plans are for Schiller to pick up the repair parts for the Bremen at Quebec, including a special barrel and oil required for the Bremen engine. Baron von Huenefeld's message this morning specifically mentioned the necessity for special fuel.

The Junkers plane F-13 now is in Montreal and may be flown here tomorrow to connect with Fitzmaurice and Schiller. It is indicated that oil required for the Bremen engine. Baron von Huenefeld's message this morning specifically mentioned the necessity for special fuel.

Indications are that the repairs to the Bremen would require a short time and the two German members of the crew intend to take off immediately after the job is finished. Schiller will take off first to act as pilot to the Bremen on the first stages of its flight to Quebec.

May Leave Tomorrow.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) MONTREAL, Que., April 16.—A messenger despatched by dog trail from Point Amour to Greenly island Sunday morning by the Canadian Marconi operator, W. S. Barrett, returned tonight with the following message from Capt. Herman Koehl, one of the pilots of the German transatlantic plane:

"The Bremen's shaft is slightly damaged but repairable. We expect to leave Wednesday. We had fog and snowstorm during part of our flight and when we got near Greenly and saw the lighthouse we mistook it for a sailing vessel but after circling around ascertained that it was a lighthouse and made a landing on a small pond. The crew were rather exhausted but quite recovered after a short time."

Fitzmaurice Leaves Island.

The messenger left Greenly before it had been decided that Maj. James Fitzmaurice would leave with "Duke" Schiller, the daring aviator, who piloted the first rescue plane through a blinding blizzard to Greenly island. Maj. Fitzmaurice and Schiller are spending the night at Nantashquan, a little village, 200 miles from Greenly island and far north on the Gulf of St. Lawrence, 400 miles from Quebec. Capt. Koehl and Baron von Huenefeld refused to leave their plane. Maj. Fitzmaurice will leave tomorrow morning for Murray Bay, Quebec.

DEMOCRATS HERE UNISON AS THEY ADOPT PLATFORM

Al Smith and Rap
Small and Thompson.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Al Smith for President and Tony Small for Vice President, the Democratic platform was adopted at the Democratic county convention here yesterday.

Of course, all the other candidates were going to win too, in the opinion of the delegates who met at the Hotel Sherman for an hour and a half of unison and organization functioning preparatory to the state convention at Springfield next Friday. Delegates were elected and a platform adopted without a hitch.

James Hamilton Lewis, former U. S. senator, just returned from Europe, was the first to speak. He said the Democratic victory of the hosts of Democracy was in all the history of the nation. He said, were the people yearning so for a return to honest government.

Lindsay Seen Set Up.

William J. Lindsay, candidate for state attorney, in language, loud and clear, perhaps, but effective, said: "It's a set up. The only way we can lose is to fall asleep. If we don't get over our entire ticket we ought to get over the game and take some more."

Mr. Carmack had a nice speech prepared but he did not deliver it. He said: "I'm still wet. I'm going to carry the red banner into every town and hamlet in Illinois, and finally carry it to Washington."

Then, when the applause to this speech had ended, he added: "And I'm not going to leave it outside the door either."

Credit for Primary Result.

The Democrats took a good deal of credit for the result of the primary of last Tuesday. They said half a million Democrats had contributed to that and they had always been united Thompson. They reminded the delegates that they were responsible for putting Small and Thompson in office and said that the only thorough way to clean house was to put the Democrats in office.

Gov. Smith's name was the signal for great enthusiasm. If there was a cry in the audience or among the delegates he kept quiet. The opening paragraph of the platform, read by Michael Igoe, was the call to support Smith at Houston and at the polls. It read:

"We, the Democratic party of Cook county, in convention assembled, do hereby express our faith in and admiration for Alfred E. Smith, governor of New York, and pledge our support to everything in our power to effect his nomination for the great office of President of the United States."

View Dry Law with Alarm.

The prohibition plank, made in harmony with the candidates, was this:

"Our current experience is convincing us that an ill advised law, whose operation conflicts with human rights, can be preventive of a nation wide contempt for law; also of a breakdown of moral standards and threatening, in its sinister influence upon our civilization, that every thoughtful American must regard it with grave alarm."

"Are we not bound to believe that the Volstead act, in effect, a dead letter, so far as its successful enforcement is concerned; and that its continued retention among our federal statutes will achieve nothing more nor more than to create contempt for all law, stimulate the criminal activities of those who are fattening upon its impotence and scatter tragedy and deformity among the youth of the land?"

"Futility of Volstead Act."

"We believe that the so-called Volstead act is a bad law, and, therefore, we demand its modification or repeal. We have this demand on conviction that it cannot be enforced."

The platform contained an unusual section regarding the primary result. The Democrats stated:

"We believe that we are only fulfilling a duty which we owe to the men and women of Cook county when we profess them our congratulations for what they accomplished with their ballots at the primary polls last Tuesday."

Thompson, Small, and all of their political gang were literally erased with a single sweep of the public hand. It was a wonderful exhibition of what mass action in politics may accomplish in a single day.

"Alas! We still have Thompson at the head of our city government. Unless he consents to fulfill his threat, uttered while despairing of the outlook for success of his faction, to resign if his candidate for state attorney was defeated, we greatly fear he will be with us too long."

Claim Share in Small Defeat.

"We desire to go on record emphatically as disclaiming that Tuesday's overthrow of misgovernment was a party or factional victory. On the contrary, more than half a million Democratic men and women participated in this victory. Because their own party was substantially free from factional disturbance, they felt free to employ their right of franchise wherever it would do the most good for the community."

"Perhaps, hereafter, they will wonder how it was possible for them to have marked their ballots for Thompson, Sterling, and Stratton, all partners of Small throughout his iniquitous administration, but they may console themselves with the reflection that they accepted the only instrumentality the occasion offered to enable them to express their convictions. Their final opportunity to clean out the gang will come in November, and we believe they will make full use of it."

A peppery section of the platform is devoted to crime and Thompson and the gang methods used on the school board.

"After Election the Deluge."

"Our crime conditions in Chicago and Cook county are appalling, but nevertheless they are the normal result of events which preceded the municipal election one year ago. (Oddly enough this platform was read in the very room where Mayor Thompson received his victorious return.)

"The policies of the administration of William E. Dever interfered with the activities of the racketeers, vice lords, gamblers, bootleggers, and all others who live outside the law. Thousands of the number joined hands with the managers of the campaign for Thompson. One individual who had grown rich in commercialized vice was reported to have given the sum of $250,000. Every cent was to be reimbursed through control of privileges. The election hardly was over before Chicago was deluged with gambling houses, booze parlors, and dens of vice."

"Season of Double Crossing."

"Then followed a season of double crossing, and afterwards the season of bombs. Attempts on the lives of two city officials of high position and

Thompson's political manager—was followed by the total disappearance from official activities of the mayor and half the members of his cabinet. He hid in rooms in the Hotel Sherman, while his office in the city hall was used to conduct slinging classes.

The chief of police became suddenly sick and retired. So did the chief of detectives. Armed guards were bandied around the homes of nearly all of Thompson's cabinet members. The wrath of the overloads of vice and booze was to be feared, evidently. The city hall had lost control over the underworld. In throwing bombs indiscriminately the latter was merely serving notice that it was dissatisfied with the treatment it had received.

"Thompson has not entered the mayor's office more than a dozen times during the year that he has been in power."

Fights for Control.

"Control of city affairs has been left in the hands of subordinates, with the natural result that there has been a succession of costly rows among them for control. Thirty bombs have been exploded in Chicago since the first of January. In no case has a bomb thrower been arrested. Is it conceivable that they are not known? Is it not obvious that nobody in power wants them arrested and punished? The underworld gangs are operating free from the restraint of organized authority."

"Their motive appears to involve vengeance upon those who first took their money in the form of campaign contributions and then aided in breaking them after they had opened their unlawful business."

"Is not this terrible situation one that can only be corrected by a Democratic state's attorney? Such a conclusion after reviewing the events which led to Thompson's success at the polls. Senator Densen publicly supported his candidacy. So did Swanson, in a word, party harmony transpired peace and good order."

"Debated School System."

"The chapter on schools tells of the installation of a ward boss as business manager, and continues:

"And even more disheartening than the installation of a ward boss as business manager was the choice of Nate De Lue, a notorious underworld character, as his assistant. Probably never before in the history of any great city has the public school system been so debased as Chicago's schools have through the connection of De Lue with their business department."

The platform pointed with pride to the Democrats in office and those who are now candidates. All was harmonious. George Brennan, the boss of it all, sat in a chair in the front row, leaning on his cane and smoking a cigar, saying nothing but looking happy.

KEEP U.S. FETTERS OFF OF BUSINESS, COOLIDGE WARNS

Tells D. A. R. That Private Enterprise Is Sacred.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., April 16.—(Special.)—Federal encroachment on the rights of the states and the growing interference of government in business and the life of the individual were criticized by President Coolidge tonight in an address delivered at the opening session of the annual convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The 4,000 delegates applauded enthusiastically when Mr. Coolidge asserted that the American theory of society "rests upon a higher level than communism," and uttered a plea that the nation return to the high ideals for which the American revolution was fought.

The President deprecated the "present tendency of the people to call upon the national government to take over their burdens and asserted that along this road lies disaster. Mr. Coolidge specially warned against the trespassing of government into the domain of private business."

Ship Board in His Mind.

While the President did not mention the shipping board or any of the pending bills in congress which provide for federal entrance into the business field, there was no doubt among his hearers that he had reference to the government's experience in operating commercial ships and the efforts being made to pass legislation calling for government operation of Muskegon Shoals.

The President asserted that government ownership on any large scale is inevitably followed by a demand on the part of the chief beneficiaries to first gain and then maintain control. Mr. Coolidge scoffed at the idea that the government is ever able to handle private business better than the people themselves.

"Through regulations and commissions we have given the most arbitrary authority over our actions and our property into the hands of a few men," the President said. "It is a procedure fraught with considerable danger and should only be adopted as a last resort."

Threatens Our Liberties.

"There is one field upon which the people have insisted that the federal government should not trespass. That is the domain of private business. Society requires certain public activities, like highways and drainage, which are used in common and can best be provided by the government. But in general the country is best served through the competition of private enterprise."

"If the people are to remain politically free they must be economically free. Their only hope in that direction is for them to keep their own business in their own hands."

"Our theory of society rests on a higher level than communism. We want the people to be the owners of their property in their own right. We recognize they are all capitalists by nature. We want them to be all capitalists in fact. That result is being approached rapidly. Our system is demonstrating by practice that it works."

Points Out Pitfalls.

The President warned against putting the government into business on a large scale and asserted that the

HOOVER LOSES FIGHT FOR COLORADO'S 15 G. O. P. DELEGATES

Colorado Springs, Colo., April 16.—(AP)—Colorado Republicans in state convention here today refused to instruct their seven delegates at large for Herbert Hoover, leaving uninstructed thirteen delegates out of the state's fifteen. Two delegates from congressional district No. 1 were instructed for Hoover at that district's convention recently.

The Hoover forces, defeated in three congressional district conventions, staked their all on an effort to have the state convention instruct the delegates at large for Hoover. They sought to put through a resolution to that effect. It was defeated, 48 1/2 to 43 1/2.

An attempt to amend the resolution by submitting the name of Frank O. Lowden was ruled out of order, as was an amendment to insert the name of Vice President Dawes.

AL SMITH PLANS TO REMAIN AWAY FROM HOUSTON

Asheville, N. C., April 16.—(Special.)—Before Gov. Al Smith, in the renewal of brilliant sunshine here today, started for the golf course he found time for the assertion that he would not attend the Democratic national convention at Houston in June.

North Carolina will send an uninstructed delegation to the Democratic convention, but it is estimated that at least one-half of the delegates from this state, which in 1924 gave William G. McAdoo strong support at the stormy Madison Square Garden event, will this year be friendly to Gov. Smith.

WOMAN BLAMES DIVORCED MATE FOR AUTO CRASH

One Killed, Three Hurt by Hit and Run Drivers.

A woman wooing by her former husband was blamed by Miss Anna Rodas, 25, of 1121 North Clark street, for an automobile crash yesterday at North Halsted street and Belmont avenue in which she suffered a blackened eye and cuts and bruises.

The divorcee told Town Hall police that Peter Vardalos, 35, of 3537 North Halsted street, from whom she obtained a decree nine months ago, rammed his automobile into the rear of her machine as a result of her refusal to return to him. The second car was gone when police arrived.

Three Flew Accident Scenes.

About two weeks ago, Miss Rodas said, "Mr. Vardalos wrote to me saying he would kill me if I didn't go back to him. He telephoned to me and told me I was going to have him arrested. This afternoon, I saw him in his car, following me. I tried to get away from him but was stopped by the traffic lights and he crashed into the rear of my machine."

Three automobile drivers who fled after hitting pedestrians left one dead and three injured in their wake yesterday.

Walter Dorek, 12 years old, 2322 South Kolis avenue, was struck and fatally injured by a speeding automobile at 14th street and 60th avenue.

Another speeder hit and seriously injured two 15 year old boys at Oakley boulevard and West 21st street. Sam Noble, 2016 Loomis street, suffered internal injuries and a fracture of the left arm. His companion, John Kral, 2016 Loomis street, also received internal injuries and severe cuts and bruises.

The third hit-and-run driver knocked down Miss Christine Paulson, 22, a maid employed at 224 Hamilton street. She was struck as she was leaving a street car at South Chicago and Cottage Grove avenues. Her skull was fractured and her right leg broken.

An unidentified woman about 65 years old was fatally injured last night when she walked from behind a Roosevelt road car at Crawford avenue and was struck by an automobile driven by Irving Rosen, 21, of 2747 South Spaulding avenue. Rosen was held by the Fillmore street police. Her death raised Cook county's death toll to 239.

Driver's Mother Is Killed.

Near Elliott, Ind., Mrs. Mary Moser, 51, of 1265 South Aberdeen street, was killed as her son turned their car into a ditch to avoid a collision.

George Thompson, 30, a golf instructor, 1568 East 44th street, suffered a fractured skull and a broken leg.

20TH WARD VOTE CANVASS SHOWS QUEER RESULTS

Figures on Favorites Are Found Exactly Alike.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The official canvass of votes in the Republican primary was started yesterday by the board of election commissioners with a canvassing team in each of the first twenty wards. The 20th ward developed some queer looking results on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

One illuminating illustration is the 9th precinct. It is represented by the returns that 444 Republican votes were cast, of which 432 were for the Small-Thompson-Crowe ticket and two for the Deneen-Emmerson-Swanson crowd. The 432 voted without an error, but the two made a number of mistakes.

Then came the Democrats and stepped on themselves. They chalked up 36 votes for each of their candidates. Each favored candidate for the municipal bench was given exactly 36 votes. The cooperation and coordination of effort between the Democrats and Republicans was an exhibition of skill and "nerve" seldom seen even in the 20th ward.

Must Work Together.

That the reader may fully understand the significance of the "funny appearing" primary returns may it be explained that it is extremely difficult—if not impossible—for Republicans to perform their feats without either the consent, assistance or neglect of the Democratic election officials and watchers. It is considered the best form for the Democrats to cover their tracks, but it appears not to have been done in this 9th precinct.

The 432 votes set down for each Republican candidate on the Thompson-Crowe-Small ticket were in one hand-writing. The 36 votes for the Democratic candidates were apparently by another penman.

The only exception on the general ticket to the 432 votes was among the candidates for trustee of the sanitary district, Morris Eller, the Crowe-Thompson house of this ward, is a candidate for the drainage board. He was credited with 432 votes. His colleagues on his own ticket, Ald. O. F. Nelson, William S. Finucane, and Edward F. Moore, were set down with 438 votes each.

1,446 for Pacell.

Even the popular and retentive William V. Pacell, member of the house at Springfield, was credited with 1,446 votes. Voters are permitted to cast three votes for one candidate for the general assembly; and three times 482 is 1,446.

The Republican vote was so glaringly suspicious that it was common gossip among the scores of persons in the rooms of the election officials; but the canvassing team representing the election board and the county judge, saw nothing unusual in the returns. At least no judges or clerks were summoned in to explain the unbelievable figures. Barish Collins, the recognized Democratic leader in the twentieth ward, might have been called in and asked whether there is a working agreement between him and Morris Eller, and if there is, the nature of the contact with reference to the division of the votes in the primary.

The Ninth was not the only precinct from which suspicious looking returns were presented for official approval yesterday. The canvass showed 603 votes for Frank L. Smith for U. S. senator and two for Otis F. Glenn in the Seventh precinct. Small for governor was given 603 votes and Emmerson two, State's Attorney Crowe was given 603 votes and Swanson two. In fact, every one of the general ticket was assigned 603 votes, even candidates for state committee, senatorial committee, delegates and alternates to the national convention, and county surveyor.

Assembly Vote Under Fire.

But there were queer looking returns from other areas than the Twentieth and Twenty-seventh wards. The police returns on the candidates for the legislature in the Fifth district are highly interesting. This district takes in all of the Fourth and Fifth wards, a good part of the Third and Sixth, and a part of the Eighteenth and Seventeenth wards. A total of 124,442 votes was cast for the five candidates, which indicates that 41,480 voters cast ballots for state representative. Of the 124,442 votes 50,786 were cast for colored candidates, which would represent 15,528 different voters. Two years ago in this same district 15,234 votes were cast for colored candidates, representing about 5,428 different voters.

Colored Vote Is Doubled.

It therefore appears that the votes for colored candidates more than doubled in this district in two years, although politicians acquainted with the district assert that the increase in colored population in that period has been less than 15 per cent.

Some of the precincts in the colored wards were not delivered to the election board until Wednesday evening after the election on Tuesday.

G. B. SHAW BOWS TO HIS SUPERIOR— AND IT'S A WOMAN

(Copyright, 1928, by the New York Times.)

LONDON, April 16.—Bernard Shaw has recognized his limitations in his old age, realized there is somebody greater than he and has confessed he would have married her—for the some body is a woman—if he had only been asked. At least that is what he says.

It is to be hoped with the approval of Mrs. Shaw.

Dame Clara Butt wanted a foreword for her biography, written by one of her old pupils, Winifred Ponder, so she appealed to Shaw to give the book a "push off" by writing a foreword.

He wrote:

"Good gracious, I would never dare. You're so much bigger a person than I. I should look like a ridiculous little busy body making a pretentious bow to your limelight. And anyhow, what could I say? 'Witnessed her debut as Orfeo. Loved her. Would have married her if she had asked me. She didn't. Might actually have chosen Bernard Shaw, and chose a Mr. Russell instead. What a woman! Don't let anybody touch your book except yourself. If you find anyone impertinent enough to venture to, burn his forehead and drop him into the dust bin.'"

cratic candidates were apparently by another penman.

The only exception on the general ticket to the 432 votes was among the candidates for trustee of the sanitary district, Morris Eller, the Crowe-Thompson house of this ward, is a candidate for the drainage board. He was credited with 432 votes. His colleagues on his own ticket, Ald. O. F. Nelson, William S. Finucane, and Edward F. Moore, were set down with 438 votes each.

1,446 for Pacell.

Even the popular and retentive William V. Pacell, member of the house at Springfield, was credited with 1,446 votes. Voters are permitted to cast three votes for one candidate for the general assembly; and three times 482 is 1,446.

The Republican vote was so glaringly suspicious that it was common gossip among the scores of persons in the rooms of the election officials; but the canvassing team representing the election board and the county judge, saw nothing unusual in the returns. At least no judges or clerks were summoned in to explain the unbelievable figures. Barish Collins, the recognized Democratic leader in the twentieth ward, might have been called in and asked whether there is a working agreement between him and Morris Eller, and if there is, the nature of the contact with reference to the division of the votes in the primary.

The Ninth was not the only precinct from which suspicious looking returns were presented for official approval yesterday. The canvass showed 603 votes for Frank L. Smith for U. S. senator and two for Otis F. Glenn in the Seventh precinct. Small for governor was given 603 votes and Emmerson two, State's Attorney Crowe was given 603 votes and Swanson two. In fact, every one of the general ticket was assigned 603 votes, even candidates for state committee, senatorial committee, delegates and alternates to the national convention, and county surveyor.

But there were queer looking returns from other areas than the Twentieth and Twenty-seventh wards. The police returns on the candidates for the legislature in the Fifth district are highly interesting. This district takes in all of the Fourth and Fifth wards, a good part of the Third and Sixth, and a part of the Eighteenth and Seventeenth wards. A total of 124,442 votes was cast for the five candidates, which indicates that 41,480 voters cast ballots for state representative. Of the 124,442 votes 50,786 were cast for colored candidates, which would represent 15,528 different voters. Two years ago in this same district 15,234 votes were cast for colored candidates, representing about 5,428 different voters.

Colored Vote Is Doubled.

It therefore appears that the votes for colored candidates more than doubled in this district in two years, although politicians acquainted with the district assert that the increase in colored population in that period has been less than 15 per cent.

Some of the precincts in the colored wards were not delivered to the election board until Wednesday evening after the election on Tuesday.

20TH WARD VOTE CANVASS SHOWS QUEER RESULTS

Figures on Favorites Are Found Exactly Alike.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The official canvass of votes in the Republican primary was started yesterday by the board of election commissioners with a canvassing team in each of the first twenty wards. The 20th ward developed some queer looking results on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

One illuminating illustration is the 9th precinct. It is represented by the returns that 444 Republican votes were cast, of which 432 were for the Small-Thompson-Crowe ticket and two for the Deneen-Emmerson-Swanson crowd. The 432 voted without an error, but the two made a number of mistakes.

Then came the Democrats and stepped on themselves. They chalked up 36 votes for each of their candidates. Each favored candidate for the municipal bench was given exactly 36 votes. The cooperation and coordination of effort between the Democrats and Republicans was an exhibition of skill and "nerve" seldom seen even in the 20th ward.

Must Work Together.

That the reader may fully understand the significance of the "funny appearing" primary returns may it be explained that it is extremely difficult—if not impossible—for Republicans to perform their feats without either the consent, assistance or neglect of the Democratic election officials and watchers. It is considered the best form for the Democrats to cover their tracks, but it appears not to have been done in this 9th precinct.

The 432 votes set down for each Republican candidate on the Thompson-Crowe-Small ticket were in one hand-writing. The 36 votes for the Democratic candidates were apparently by another penman.

The only exception on the general ticket to the 432 votes was among the candidates for trustee of the sanitary district, Morris Eller, the Crowe-Thompson house of this ward, is a candidate for the drainage board. CANADA'S STAND INDICATES MORE SEAWAY DELAY

St. Lawrence Project Notes Made Public.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Washington, D. C., April 16.—(Special.)—Further delay in the construction of the St. Lawrence waterway is indicated by the recent correspondence between the United States and Canada. Publication of two notes outlining the position of the Canadian government and replies by Secretary of State Kellogg discloses that, while progress has been made in brushing aside obstacles to the appointment of commissioners for the negotiation of a waterway treaty, Canada is still standing aloof.

While the exchange of notes, which covers a period from Jan. 31, this year, to April 7, when Mr. Kellogg sent his last reply, reveals that a new plan of construction and allotment of costs has been proposed by Canada and accepted as a basis of negotiations by Secretary Kellogg, many obstacles lie in the way of a construction agreement.

Canada's Stand Delay. Secretary Kellogg has consistently urged the appointment of commissioners by each government and the beginning of negotiations at which all disputed questions will be discussed and an attempt made to draft a treaty. Canada has counseled delay.

Outstanding points developed in the correspondence follow:

1. Canada proposes, as a basis of negotiations, that in improving the St. Lawrence waterway the United States bear the cost of constructing deeper channels in the great lakes and the development, both for power and navigation, of the international section while Canada constructs the waterway in sections wholly Canadian, including the Welland canal.
2. Acceptance of the Canadian proposal as a basis of negotiation by Mr. Kellogg with certain qualifications. Among other things these would increase the payment made by Canada under the proposal and provide for Canada's sharing the cost of the international section where most of the electric power is to be secured.
3. Both governments, at the request of Canada, agree that if commissioners are appointed, any outstanding problems affecting the great lakes and the St. Lawrence watershed would be included in the discussion.
4. Disclosure of a wide divergence of opinion on such subjects as the handling of electric power, the best method of engineering development in the international section, and the priority of construction for various sections of the waterway.
5. Agreement reached that the proposed waterway should have a depth of twenty-seven feet.
6. Warning by Canada that she would not consider it sound policy to assume too heavy obligations for the St. Lawrence project in view of her heavy financial obligations.
7. An expressed desire on the part of Canada that the waterway be con-

PLAN NEW FORESTS ON 7 MILLION ACRES OF U. S. WASTE LANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 16.—(Special.)—Recovery and reestablishment of forest crops on 7,000,000 acres of more or less over, burned over and waste forest lands is an objective of federal forestry officials, L. F. Kneipp of the forest service of the department of agriculture, asserted today. Preliminary studies, Mr. Kneipp said, show that there are at least six areas aggregating $50,000 acres to 100,000 acres in Wisconsin within which the provisions and purposes of the Clarke-McNary act for the purchase of lands for reforestation could be made fully effective.

structured no faster than Canada can absorb power, as the dominion is opposed to export of electric power.

Would Discuss Water Diversion. Agreement to discuss the outstanding problems affecting the great lakes means, of course, that the Chicago water diversion matter, a sore point with Canada for many years, would be considered by the commissioners.

Washington officials stated today, however, that even though the Chicago diversion were discussed there is little likelihood it would be included in the waterway construction treaty. It was pointed out that Canada seeks assurances that this matter will be settled on a satisfactory basis.

While the tariff is mentioned as a factor working against popular sentiment in Canada for the waterway, no request is made that this problem be settled at this time.

Thinks U. S. Need Is Greater.

Beginning his note of Jan. 31, with a long recital purporting to show that the United States need for the waterway is much greater than that of Canada, the Canadian minister to Washington, Vincent Massey, ended by presenting a comprehensive plan for the allocation of costs, the beginning of construction and the division of power.

Under this plan the United States would meet the entire cost of constructing a twenty-seven foot channel in the international section and the development of power. Canada suggested that work on the great lakes and the Canadian sections precede the work on the international section on the theory that this would permit Canada more time to absorb the power developed on the Canadian side. The power developed in the international section would naturally be divided between the two governments.

The Canadian plan provides also that Canada should be credited with the cost of present work on the St. Lawrence ship canal, the St. Lawrence and Welland canals, and the lock at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., a total of $55,000,000.

Canada's Share 400 Millions. In addition, Canada would complete the Welland ship canal and the wholly Canadian section, including the development of $49,300 horsepower. Her total cost for new improvements would be 115 million dollars. Adding the old works, her share was set at 400 million dollars.

Under the Canadian plan, the American government would be credited with $44,835,000 in progress on the automobile of Harry M. Chalmers, secretary of the organization, in which he had left all the records of the war memorial, was stolen. He appeals to the robbers to return the records.

Objects to Cost Allowances. Mr. Kellogg, in reply to the Massey note, objected to the inclusion of the $50,000,000 cost of the old St. Lawrence and Welland canal in the balance sheet. He suggested that the costs of power development in the international section should be borne equally, as the power is to be divided equally. He also urged the completion of all parts of the navigation system at the same time and took the position that the United States should be allowed to have the advantage of its share of the power derived from the international section without having to wait until Canada is ready to use hers.

In the final note Canada stated she would take up the power aspects of the project with the provinces of Ontario and Quebec and reply to the American proposals as soon as this was done. Settlement of this question may take more than a year.

5,000 AT DANCE GIVEN TO FINANCE WAR MEMORIAL

Five thousand or more north side citizens last night turned out in attendance at the dance and entertainment given at the Aragon ballroom under the supervision of the Tenth Congressional District ex-Service Men's club, held to raise funds for a memorial to Chicago's north side world war dead. The turnout was said to have assured the success of the undertaking. George W. Mesian is president of the club.

The memorial is to be in the form of a monument of New Hampshire granite. It is to be a shaft 25 feet high, at Clark, Ashland, and Edgewater avenues, where a triangular plot was set aside for it by the city last September. Ground for the project was broken on Monday, April 9, at a ceremony at which Christian P. Paschen officiated.

While the dance was in progress the automobile of Harry M. Chalmers, secretary of the organization, in which he had left all the records of the war memorial, was stolen. He appeals to the robbers to return the records.

BRITAIN EQUIPS SPECIAL ARMY FOR SECRET DUTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] LONDON, April 16.—A high authority revealed tonight that Great Britain has secretly been organizing a small, but highly efficient and fully equipped expeditionary army. It is certain, however, that the unit is being equipped for tropical warfare.

"LEAK" IN FALL'S STORY AROUSES SINCLAIR JUDGE

Washington, D. C., April 16.—(Special.)—Contempt proceedings against persons responsible for publication in a Hearst morning newspaper today of excerpts from the deposition recently made by Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, may be ordered by Justice Jennings Bailey, presiding in the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair.

The of the Fall deposition before it had been accepted by the court as evidence in defense of Sinclair constituted, Justice Bailey told counsel for both the government and the oil man, a more serious contempt of court, in his opinion, than the jury shadowing which caused a mistrial of the first Sinclair-Fall case last November.

As a result of the mistrial Sinclair, W. J. Burns and others who engaged the jury shadowing were convicted of contempt of court by Justice Frederick L. Siddons and given jail sentences.

No Danger of Mistrial.

As the jury in the current trial is locked up nightly and barred from reading newspapers, there is no occasion for a mistrial order.

An investigation is under way to determine how the document came into possession of the reporter under whose name the first of what was planned to be a series of excerpts was published this morning.

A warning against continuation of the series until after the court has received the deposition and ruled on its admissibility was given from the bench by Justice Bailey.

"I understand," the justice said, "that some newspaper has printed part and is about to print more of the deposition made by Mr. Fall. At present I believe such publication is a contempt of court and accordingly if it is published I shall take steps to punish those responsible."

The deposition or more than 100,000 words reviews the whole history of oil and public land leasing and includes, it is said, charges against some of Fall's fellow members in the Harding cabinet in addition to Fall's story of his negotiations with Sinclair and his explanation of how Sinclair came to pay him more than $300,000 within a few months after the Teapot Dome reserve was turned over to a Sinclair company.

Opening the defense this morning as the trial went into its second week, Sinclair attorneys, aided by elaborate wall charts, maps, and relief models of Teapot Dome, sought to prove by expert geologists that the reserve was being drained by outside wells when Fall executed the lease to Sinclair.

Justice Bailey refused to allow the government to show by E. L. Doherty Jr. that the older Doherty had sent Fall $100,000 in cash just before the Elk Hills lease was given to Doherty's company, and after calling two witnesses to show that Sinclair in 1922

CUTTEN WILL BUY ARMOUR STOCK IN CLEARING DEBT

BY O. A. MATHER.

Final steps to clear up the debts of the late J. Ogden Armour were announced yesterday. Negotiations have been practically completed for the sale of $60,000 shares of class B stock of Armour & Co. to Arthur W. Cutten, who recently has been credited with large stock market profits.

The stock was part of Mr. Armour's holdings and was pledged with other securities to secure a debt of around $15,000,000 which Mr. Armour owed to the company. Mr. Cutten is said to have taken an option to buy the block of stock at $4.50 a share, which would yield nearly $4,000,000 to the company. The market price yesterday was between $5 and $5.50 a share.

"It is expected the settlement of the Armour obligations to Armour & Co., when finally arranged, will enhance our working capital by a substantial sum," President F. Edson White said last night. "At the moment it is not possible to state just how much is involved. Negotiations have been under way for some weeks and they are rapidly nearing a conclusion."

It is understood the sale of securities pledged by Mr. Armour has been agreed to by Mrs. Armour and her daughter, Mrs. John J. Mitchell. This arrangement would obviate a formal foreclosure action. After the sale to Mr. Cutten it is said the company still will hold nearly 700,000 shares of class A stock and around 400,000 shares of class B stock. The class A shares sold yesterday around $14 a share.

The par value of both the class A and class B shares is $25 and there are 2,000,000 shares of each. At the time of the reorganization of Armour & Co. in 1922, Mr. Armour owned about 70 per cent of both issues. Considerable blocks of both issues were marketed and the proceeds applied to his debts.

The present settlement is made possible by the clearing up of claims against the Armour estate by the Euter Basin company. This was the $5,000 acre California reclamation project which Mr. Armour promoted and guaranteed payment of its $5,000,000 of bonds. Reorganization of this company with the aid of Mrs. Armour is in progress.

CORONER'S JURY VISITS SCENE OF GRANADY MURDER

Conflicting Stories Lead to Tour of District.

Members of the coroner's jury hearing evidence in the murder of Oscar C. Granady, colored lawyer who opposed Morris E. Miller, Thompson, Dues boss, for the post of Republican committeeman of the 20th ward, yesterday toured the scene of the thrilling chase and its tragic culmination. The jurors first went to the polling place at 1222 Blue Island avenue where Granady and three friends were passing in an automobile when a carload of gunmen swooped down upon them.

Then, led by Sgt. Williams and Schroeder of the coroner's staff, the jurors were driven over the route taken by Granady in his frantic flight. At the corner of 15th street and Hoyne avenue, where the gangster automobile forced Granady's car to the curb, and where the lawyer was murdered, the jurors studied the territory and were shown where Granady fell.

Witnesses' Stories Vary.

The decision to visit the scene of the crime was made by the jurors after fifteen eye witnesses to the murder had contradicted each other on every important phase of the crime.

Some witnesses declared there were two cars pursuing the Granady car, and others saw only one. Some said the car leaving the gunmen's pursuit was blue, others had it black, and its make was given variously as Cadillac, Lincoln, Paige, and Buick. One witness saw an Eiler campaign banner on it. Another saw a Crowe banner. The rest saw no banners at all. Some witnesses had the men out of the car, shooting from the street; others testified the men shot from inside the car.

The third car, according to those who declared there was a third car, was a police squad car, some testified. One witness said a siren was sounded; another heard a police gong. Two policemen signed a formal record at the county morgue saying Granady was shot by a police squad; when called to the stand they said they were mistaken.

No Description of Killers.

Not one of the witnesses gave a noteworthy description of the killers. He noted the license number, if, indeed there was a license plate on either of the cars.

Sensational testimony was given by Rose Morgan, 14 year old colored girl, who said she witnessed an argument at the polling place at 1222 Blue Island

BIRGER YELLS CURSES AS SANITY TEST OPENS; FOUR JURORS CHOSEN

(Special.)

The first panel of four jurors who will sit in the sanity hearing of Charles Birger, former Illinois gang chief under sentence of death for the murder of Mayor James Adams of West City, were accepted by both the defense and the state at the close of the first day's session of the hearing this afternoon.

Seven men were questioned and three were excused by the defense when they said they had opinions as to Birger's sanity.

As Birger walked into the courtroom today he loudly cursed a newspaper reporter whom he thought had written an unauthorized story of his life.

It is expected that the jury will have been completed by tomorrow night and the examination of witnesses will begin Wednesday.

Threats have been made to kill Sheriff James Pritchard and State's Attorney Roy C. Martin in the event Birger hangs.

A heavily armed guard escorts Birger to and from court.

avenue in which a man known to her as "Johnny" fired a shot at a man named Mason, a Denoon worker.

"Johnny," she said, was said to be a bodyguard for Albert Goldberg, Eiler precinct captain. The policeman on duty grabbed "Johnny" by the arm just as he fired, sending the bullet wild, the girl said.

A bit later, she went on, she saw Granady and his companions drive past. "Johnny" had climbed into a blue sedan and been driven away. Then close in the wake of the Granady car followed a police squad car, the girl said. A few minutes later she heard shots come from the direction in which the cars went.

Funeral services for Granady will be attended by Denoon leaders and party candidates, it was announced yesterday. The ceremonies will take place in the Guinea African Methodist Episcopal church, 1226 West 14th street, at noon, and burial will be in the Lincoln cemetery, Kedzie avenue and 127th street.

A second fatality growing out of disputes at the primary election resulted yesterday in the death of Marion Anderson, 33 years old, 650 West 13th street, colored, in the county hospital.

Anderson was shot, primary day by Mrs. Ella Cottle, 30 years old, 1081 Maxwell street, colored, near a polling place, while supposedly quarreling over the respective merits of candidates. Mrs. Cottle will be booked on a charge of murder today, police said.

BAR ASSN. WILL GIVE $1,000 FOR POLLS KIDNAPERS

The Chicago Bar association, through President Carl R. Latham, yesterday decided to offer a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the kidnapers of Attorney Arvid R. Tanner and C. R. Hanson, who acted as watchers for the association at the polls on primary day.

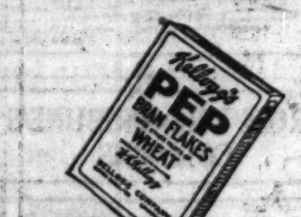

A special committee of the association, headed by Russell Whitman, is pursuing lengthy reports of the hundreds of lawyer-watchers who were on the lookout for fraud in the voting. No action can be taken by this committee until its report has been considered by the board of managers, which meets Thursday.

FEDERAL DISDAIN OF STATE LAW.

Myron Caffey, the prohibition enforcement agent who shot William Beatty, a Municipal court bailiff, went into the federal building Saturday to serve a warrant charging him with assault with intent to kill.

They waited all Sunday at the federal building entrance, not having authority to carry state law into the local home of United States law. It was known that the federal authorities would transfer the case from the state courts to the federal courts as soon as the state attempted to assert jurisdiction. Therefore the hiding of the agent was merely additional contempt for the state law, the state courts, and the requirements of public security.

The agent was a member of Golding's eastern enforcement outfit brought in to make enforcement better and rougher. He was in a raiding party which broke into a south side drinking place one night before the election. Beatty and his wife, on their way home from a political meeting, had stopped in the place for a glass of beer, what kind not indicated. When the raiders came in with guns the bailiff and his wife tried to escape. Beatty said he thought it was a holdup and seeing a chance for a getaway, he tried to use it. One of the agents, identified as Caffey, shot him. He had a narrow escape from death. The federal agents put him under arrest and had him guarded in the hospital.

Beatty was charged with resisting the federal officers in spite of the reasonableness of his own story that he thought the place was being held up by a bunch of roughs and thugs and that the people in it were to be robbed and were in danger of being killed. There is nothing in the methods and appearance of a typical enforcement squad to take plausibility from that thought.

It has been proved in many instances that enforcement has no sense of related values. If the city police were raising a gambling joint they would not consider themselves justified in shooting a person who tried to slip out of a door. It is technically resisting arrest but the average policeman has enough common sense and enough consideration for human life not to act on the theory that a man ducking out from such an arrest may have reason to believe that the arrest is important to the protection of the community. The enforcement agents shoot to kill without any regard for the higher value of life. It has no higher value than prohibition for the personnel of enforcement.

The state of Illinois rightly regards the shooting of the bailiff as an offense against its laws. Respect for its laws requires that the man accused of the shooting should stand trial in a state court and have his case laid before a jury. The federal government does not permit this but in other cases it has observed a form of respect for state judicial processes. It has not blocked even the preliminary operation of justice. It has permitted state authority to take custody and then has shown its disregard of state law by transferring the trial of the accused agents to its own courts.

This has been done in cases of murder and manslaughter in which innocent people were killed, the enforcers suspecting that they might have liquor in a car or on their persons. They shot a duck hunter merely because the place he was in was in which a run runner might be. They have shot into automobiles because they were expecting a booze car to pass along a particular road. They have killed people in boats because they didn't stop. Any citizen who makes the natural mistake of thinking that a prohibition squad pouncing on him is an outfit of highway robbers and who tries to get away from them may be killed and the state is powerless to act.

The agents are tried in the federal court, defended by government lawyers from Washington, or by the district attorney. Thus they have been acquitted.

All this is the approved plan of making the agents indifferent to the state protections for life. There is no punishment for reckless shooting and if the agent does not care whether he kills or not or with what justification he kills there is nothing to stop him and no protection for the inevitable next victim of such conduct.

In this Chicago case the federal government went still further and until yesterday protected the agent from arrest. It was prepared to take his case into the federal court as soon as the state got action but it was regarded as unnecessary to show even the small courtesy of delivering the man to state jurisdiction and in this small way satisfying the necessary operations of state law.

Federal government has shown its contempt for the police authority and the law in an outrageous fashion. The manner in which the Chicago police were treated by federal law enforcement revealed a clear case of disrespect for lawful procedure and of scorn and disdain for law itself.

That is all in the picture of the police watch

THE INVESTIGATION OF POLITICAL CRIMES.

In the rejoicing over the primary result, attention has been distracted from the crimes which were committed in connection with the voting. These crimes were not petty. Two murders were committed, in addition to the bombings. There were wholesale vote frauds. If the result had been less overwhelming, there is not the slightest doubt that the theft of votes would have reversed the popular will.

Exposito and Granady were candidates for the important position of ward committeeman. They were murdered as candidates for office have frequently been murdered in Mexico, and for the same purpose. The murders, outrageous in themselves, are doubly so in that they violate every concept of orderly self-government. Failure to punish the assassins and their employers is an invitation to others to adopt similar tactics in subsequent elections.

Chicago is not unfamiliar with vote frauds, but we do not recall another election in which the frauds have been as glaring. Mr. Hewitt's revelations of the discrepancies in the Twenty-seventh ward are amazing, but they can be matched elsewhere in the city. Hoodlums invaded a polling place within sight of the Lake Shore drive and stole several hundred ballots.

The situation calls for special prosecutors and a special grand jury. Under the law passed by the last legislature, Mr. Carlstrom must assume responsibility for the inquiry. He can count upon the cooperation of the Chicago and Cook County Bar associations in selecting the lawyers who will have direct charge of the work. The prosecution should be placed in the hands of vigorous men, courageous men and men who are not themselves prominent in any of the Republican or Democratic factions.

THE FLIGHT ACROSS.

There's a little victory for everybody in the flight of the Germans, Capt. Koehl and Baron von Huenefeld and the Irishman, Commandant Fitzmaurice, from Ireland to Greenly Island. There is victory for the flyers in being the first to cross the North Atlantic by plane from east to west. There is victory for the two countries from which the airmen hail. There is victory for German aircraft manufacture and for the German government, as Foreign Minister Stresemann suggests, in having brought about the repeal of the allied prohibition against building planes large enough to cross the ocean.

And there is not a little victory for America's Col. Lindbergh—if it is not had taste to recall his feat at the time of this German and Irish triumph. The missing of their course by 400 miles by the westward flyers makes Lindbergh's faultless landing on the precise spot for which he set out even more miraculous.

The only party to be slightly dismayed, perhaps, is England. Germany and Ireland together again, despite Sir Roger Casement, executed and buried these dozen years; talk of this international flight being an opening wedge for an agreement by which Germany shall be allowed to use Irish landing fields. Things cannot be entirely peaceful and calm in the British foreign office.

A GOOD BATTLER.

Former Ald. Arthur Albert appears to have defeated Ald. Titus Haffa in the race for Republican committeeman in the Forty-third ward. Albert's lead, as shown in the preliminary count, is 15 votes and will probably be increased in the official canvass.

Albert is a battler. He began his defiance of the Thompson machine when, to do a supposed little short of election. He defeated Haffa in the last aldermanic election but was done by his seat on technical grounds. Undismayed, Albert returned to the fight at the first opportunity, and this time Haffa has been unhorsed.

How bitter the struggle in the ward has been is indicated by the fact that Albert's victory was assured only by the quick thinking of an election official in the twentieth precinct. The votes were being counted on Tuesday night when a gang of hoodlums, pistols in hand, stormed into the polling place and attempted to steal the ballots. The gunmen did get several hundred ballots, apparently, but an election official managed to push 200 of them back into the box without the hoodlums' knowledge. Under special police protection, those ballots were counted and gave 299 votes to Albert and only 13 to Haffa.

Albert deserved to win. He was a good alderman, infinitely preferable to his opponent, Haffa, who only recently was indicted by a federal grand jury for trafficking in liquor. Albert's victory over Haffa should encourage him to seek reelection to the city council.

GOV. SMITH'S IOWA VICTORY.

(New York Herald-Tribune.)

Gov. Smith's victory in Iowa was startling in its completeness, especially to those who recalled only the surface fact that Iowa's vote was cast solidly against him in the Democratic national convention of 1920.

There has always been a strong west element in the Democratic organization in Iowa going back to the time two or three decades ago when prohibition and high license were chronic state issues. Undoubtedly also Iowa's Democratic politicians see a local advantage in Gov. Smith's candidacy, because his position as farm relief is as yet indefinite and he might be able in certain contingencies to appeal to the corn belt states as a supporter of the McNary-Haagen equalization plan. He would thus be an eastern candidate running on a western farm relief platform, which could not but be very helpful to the Granger state Democrats. This theory will be tested to some extent by the votes of Tammany's senators and representatives on this year's farm relief measures.

The ground was carefully prepared for a Smith triumph in Iowa, but few easterners were aware of it. The governor's success has, therefore, a surprise value here, and it may have the same value in the wavering south and on the Pacific coast. The McDoo campaign has little to offer to the party except a perpetuation of the Madison Square Garden feud. Even in the dry states that feud is losing its edge. It is pretty well recognized that unless Gov. Smith is nominated the Democratic party will have no chance this year; 1924 will repeat itself.

The eastern-northern Democracy is determined to have Smith or nobody. The south and the west seem to be accommodating themselves more and more to the inevitability of a Smith nomination now or later. But if at all, why not now?

Iowa's shift was not so sensational as it looked. Yet it suggests a similar yielding mood in many other states much more violently anti-Smith in 1924 than was Iowa.

FACTORS IN EPILEPSY.

WHAT is called epilepsy is not much more than a combination of symptoms. Of these, particularly occurring convulsions is the most striking. And yet, there are several conditions in which there are periodic convulsions, some of which should not be called epilepsy. Children may have convulsions repeatedly, not the result of fever, and not have epilepsy. On the other hand, there are cases of true epilepsy in which there are no convulsions.

The reason for writing this at this point is to warn that because a treatment has seemed to benefit one case of so-called epilepsy, it does not follow that it will benefit all. In fact, considerable experience and judgment are necessary to decide as to the value of any treatment for this disorder.

It is pretty well agreed that true epilepsy has more spells and harder ones than epilepsy, most of the movements and exercise but little. In epileptic colonies they have found by experience that after they have decided that a case was epilepsy, the next step was to put the case on a kind of work, preferably manual labor, in the open air; to limit his diet; and to correct any tendency to constipation. This is certainly good treatment. Beyond the effect of treatment is open to question.

For about seven years Dr. Wilder and many other physicians have been trying out a diet for epilepsy based on the observation that fasting was good treatment. Starvation causes acidosis. How can we produce acidosis and still give the man enough food to satisfy his hunger and his body's requirements? The method that was worked out is called the ketogenic or acidotic diet. It consists in cutting bread, cereals, vegetables, fruit, and lean meat just as far as possible. The diet is composed of much butter, bacon, fish, meat, gravy, olive oil, and other fats as the stomach will tolerate. Since this ketogenic diet is not filling, the epileptic is allowed to fill up on well washed bran, gelatin, agar jelly, and other bulky foods of low food value. If there is constipation which cannot be overcome by training, bran, mineral oil, and agar are permitted.

Dr. C. J. Barborak says this diet has proved satisfactory in a fair proportion of people on whom it has been used during the last seven years. This is especially true if the diet is combined with epileptic seizures. They have the epileptic spells about two weeks at the clinic. During this time they are taught how to prepare salad dressings and to cook and otherwise prepare fatty foods so that they will not be too greasy. Then the patients go home and cook and eat as they have learned how to do. The success of this treatment depends very largely on the patient and his cook. It is a matter of home care.

SAFE TO VISIT DENIST.

MRS. W. K. writes: I am nearly three months pregnant, for the first time. My teeth need attention. Two will have to be pulled and others will need filling. Can I safely have this work done now?

Will you tell me where I can get a book with information regarding the care of myself from now on?

REPLY.

1. Yes.

2. Write to the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D. C., for "Prenatal Care."

Also, to your state health department.

3. Nine hours preferable.

4. In 15 hours sleep enough for a boy 15 years old.

5. Is cocaine harmful or helpful?

6. How about coffee?

REPLY.

1. Probably so, though for many youths it is a safe habit.

2. Used in moderation it is harmless.

3. Same answer.

PROBABLY COLLECTIBLE.

Chicago, April 11.—(Friend of the People.)—On October 1, 1922, I signed a contract with a local correspondence school for one of their courses. About six months later, after I had paid them $40, I suffered financial reverse which necessitated giving up the course. I explained this to them and sent back the books. When the contract was signed I was just over twenty years of age. For over two years four or five different lawyers have threatened suit. Can they collect?

If you continued to make payments after you became of age then you could not rely on minority as a defense and it seems probable that the other parties are entitled to enforce the contract according to its wording. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

REPAIRS MADE.

Chicago, April 6.—(Friend of the People.)—Is there a way to get the street car repairing to fill up a cavity about three and one-half feet square and four inches deep on the north side of Armitage avenue near La Vergne? This spot was chipped out to put in a pipe for a new apartment building and has never been filled in.

The gas company advised that opening made by them in front of the above premises will be kept as a defense and it seems probable that the other parties are entitled to enforce the contract according to its wording. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FLAT HUNTING

(A conjugal aside.)

The bed shuts up in a cowl.
The ironing board in a wall.
Rubbish you simply deposit
In a jardiniere in the hall.
The kitchen shuts up in a cubby
As snug as the blade of a knife.
"And all would be jake," mused hubby.
"If I could conventionally,
Quite unintentionally,
(Perhaps providentially),
Shut up the wife."

WINDS.

Early each March when I was a child I saddled a pony and rode out to hunt the cattle. The malice of past was sweet to their hunger. . . . The malice of March is cold on my face—remembering. . . . Then there is the memory of perfume that leaves me faint with nostalgia—the sweetness of wild plum blossoms, hurting my heart. In low, dense thickets, the wild plum grows—luxuriant there in the sunshine, white as the drifting snow. . . . The suddenness of gusty southwest showers. . . . And the winds of April! The first shy, soft winds. . . . And the high ones like the tuning of mighty violins. . . . Torrents of fairy laughter scudded in some air, some wind wildly defiant with the spirits of red men. I heard their war cries at night down lone arroyos and dreamed they were plundering the plains as they had in the past. . . . Then one wind came in the spring—morning earth and the air. Gloom as of the last strange twilight of March is cold on my face—remembering. . . . And the winds of April! The first shy, soft winds. . . . STOCK EXCHANGE IN NEW HOME; BUSINESS GAINS

Chicago Reaches Out for Larger Trading.

Two steps in the development of Chicago as a leading financial city of the United States were taken yesterday with the moving of the Chicago Stock Exchange to new and larger quarters and the announcement of an organized curb exchange.

The stock exchange left the old Rookery building, where it has been a tenant for many years, and now occupies trading quarters in the new State Bank of Chicago building, Monroe and La Salle streets. When the move was completed yesterday for the start of trading at 9 a. m., an avalanche of flowers decorated the room.

Thousands Attend Reception
After the close of the day's trading, R. Arthur Wood, president, and members of the board of governors were hosts at a reception which about 20,000 persons attended. Admittance was by card only.

The growth of the exchange and the need for new quarters are demonstrated by the fact that a year ago average total daily sales of 40,000 shares were considered "a good day." Yesterday, total sales numbered 141,800 and all of last week's sales totaled more than 100,000 every day except Saturday when the session lasted only two hours. The upward turn in the affairs of the exchange and the step to keep pace with the growth of Chicago were started last spring with the election of President Wood.

The exchange was organized in 1882 with about 80 members, all of whom paid in $50 as membership fees. One of the charter members, Fred G. Frank, sold his $50 membership last week for $25,000.

Seats Sell for $25,000.
Since then membership sales have taken place at figures up to and including $25,000. At this time there are 275 stocks and 156 bonds listed for trading.

Dealings in securities not listed on the exchange but now traded in over the counter transactions, will be started soon in an organized curb exchange, according to an announcement made last night. The new curb market has been organized under the name of the Chicago Curb Exchange association and has obtained a trading hall across from the Board of Trade at La Salle street and Jackson boulevard.

PLAN FIGHT ON UNION LEVY FOR NELSON'S RACE

Assessment Violates State Law, Attorney Says.

Attorney Michael F. Ryan of the Civil Service Protective association announced last night that injunction proceedings are contemplated to halt the union of school firemen, janitors and janitresses from levying a $10 assessment to be used in Aid. Oscar F. Nelson's campaign for sanitary district trustee in the fall election.

Attorney Ryan said the assessment is a direct violation of the state civil service law. He estimated the membership of the three unions at 2,400 and says that the $10 contribution from each member would add $24,000 to Nelson's campaign war chest.

"Most of the complainants are scrubwomen and school firemen, who say their entire wages are needed in homes to buy foodstuffs for large families and to provide the other necessities of life," said Attorney Ryan.

Officials Use Diplomacy.

"I have been informed that the officials of the janitresses and janitors' union used considerable diplomacy in handling their donations to Aid. Nelson's campaign fund."

"Miss Elizabeth O'Grady is head of the scrubwomen's unit of school employees and William McFetridge is the director of the janitors' organizations. Both these officials contributed to Nelson's fund from the general treasury, with the understanding they are to assess their union members later. Opposition of the scrubwomen to 'kick-in' is said to have led to the O'Grady-McFetridge plan of assessment."

Attorney Ryan announced that another method of collection was used to compel the school firemen to come across.

Special Meeting Called.

"Late last week the heads of the school firemen's organization called a special meeting which was held in Musicians' hall at 175 West Washington street," Attorney Ryan declared.

"The old army game was worked at the meeting. That is certain men were planted in the hall and when given the proper cue they made speeches eulogizing Aid. Nelson's great achievements in behalf of the working men and women. Several of these laudatory addresses were made by the janitors' friends and then some one in the rear of the hall suggested a vote and a $10 contribution to Nelson's campaign fund. Faced with a probable loss of position, the vote in favor of the $10 donation carried."

Tells of Many Levees.

"Then, too, Aid. Nelson is boss of the scrubwomen's union and the school janitors' union through holding the position as head of the Building Service Employees' union. Since the beginning of the Thompson administration school employees who perform physical

RADICALS BLOCK ACTION ON NAVAL APPROPRIATIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 16.—[Special.]—Republican radicals forced through the senate today a resolution demanding of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur information as to the cost in money and lives of American activities in Nicaragua.

The resolution was offered by Senator Blaine (Rep., Wis.), who gave notice that he would block final action on the pending naval appropriation bill until the information was forthcoming.

Senator Hale (Rep., Me.), chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, informed the senate that the cost of the Nicaraguan expedition up to the end of the current fiscal year will be $1,467,000. Senator Hale said that 21 marines had been killed and 44 wounded.

This information did not satisfy Senator Blaine, who insisted upon action on his resolution.

A final vote on the appropriation bill went over until tomorrow or Wednesday to await a response from Secretary Wilbur.

toil have been subjected to all kinds of assessments. If it isn't a compulsory donation to some silly America First club, then it is something else, but the 'kick-in' is never less than $10."

Attorney Ryan said work is now being carried on to procure affidavits from school scrubwomen, firemen, and janitors who resent the sandbagging and when it is completed injunction proceedings will be started.

DUMAS IN COURT;
MAY BE DEPORTED
BACK TO PERSIA

Mike Dumas, a minor political power on the near north side who has boasted of his income from city and state pay rolls, was arraigned in the Morris court yesterday on a charge of keeping a disorderly house at 708 North Clark street.

The presence of government agents in court disclosed that Dumas is not a citizen and faces deportation if he is convicted.

Dumas, a small, fat Persian, was formerly a Republican precinct committeeman, because he could deliver a couple of hundred votes to any named candidate. He is a close friend of Charles Peace, committeeman of the 42d ward and was a strong American Firster in the recent primary.

He was given a continuance until May 1 by Judge Peter H. Seidman, but the government men, not discouraged, asserted they would be back on that date and watching grimly for evidence of Dumas' guilt.

Dumas had irritated them by boasting that he had "fixed" an attempt to deport him some time ago.

The North Clark street disorderly house is known familiarly as "Dumas' place," police said, but in forty raids in two years the proprietor was never captured. Then Lieut. Joseph Pierotti and Sergt. Nick Hughes raided the place Saturday night and Dumas was taken into custody, with several women and men.

ALDERMEN TURN ON M. V. L. WITH COUNTER ATTACK

'Full of Bunk,' 'Mongrels,' Are Phrases Hurlled.

Denials and counter charges were flung back yesterday at the Municipal Voters' league by members of the city council. The league had declared Sunday that, for the most part, the aldermen had become "mere yes-men" and "subject slaves" of the Thompson administration.

The M. V. L. asserted that "errand boys, privilege brokers, and low politicians are not fit to cope with important council questions" and urged the voters to finish "the glorious job of housecleaning done last Tuesday" by turning them out at next spring's election.

Ald. Jacob Arvey (24th) took part tion. It recommended further a non-partisan election of mayor.

"Bunk," Ald. Toman's Reply.

"They're full of bunk," was the explosive comment of Ald. John Toman (23d). "What is this M. V. L. anyway? Just a one-man reform organization. You don't mean anything to me."

Ald. A. J. Prignano (20th) challenged the league to name the aldermen it was talking about. He said he would be only too glad to have his voting record in the council analyzed.

Mayor Thompson's leaders, recalling the primary election outcome, retorted accordingly.

"Mongrel Nondescripts"—Grossman.

"The M. V. L. is headed by mongrel hybrid nondescripts," asserted Ald. Leonard J. Grossman (5th), Democrat who recently switched to Thompson.

No man or faction owns my vote and I cringe and crawl neither before the M. V. L. nor any other self-anointed, holier-than-thou hypocrites."

Grossman added that he favors a city manager form of government.

Ald. Robert E. Jackson (3d), another Thompsonite, surmised that "the brains of the council members compare favorably with those of the officials of the M. V. L." while Ald. Louis B. Anderson (2d), his colored colleague, held that the present council is fully as competent as any during the twelve years.

Ald. Jacob Arvey (24th) took part cular offense at the league's charge that the council is dallying with the transit problem.

Interprets Initials "M. V. L."

"M. V. L. in my opinion, stands for means very little," was the brief comment of Ald. Patrick J. Ryan (18th).

Among those who agreed with the recommendation for a non-partisan mayor were Ald. D. S. McKinlay (19th) and Ald. Sheldon Govier (9th). Ald. R. A. Cronson (4th) said he was for the plan if approved at a referendum, but, aside from that, disagreed heartily with the whole league statement.

The councilmen likewise were silent about the possibilities of a Democratic-Democrat revolt, hinted at by the league as a possibility.

ROCHESTER and UTICA in "Sun-Sap" test

FIVE cities were selected for a trial campaign by the Sun-Sap Corporation of Pittsburgh, Pa., manufacturers of "Sun-Sap," a new health drink made of sassafras juice. Coupled newspaper advertisements were employed to determine the saleability of the product and the effectiveness of an advertising plan.

Obviously, a judicious selection of markets was vital to the authenticity of public reaction. Hence, it is particularly significant that Rochester and Utica—two typically American cities—were included among the five.

Thorough home coverage by Gannett Newspapers throughout these two splendid markets insured a true answer for "Sun-Sap."

A treasure house of flavors—Roast Duckling Pennsylvania Special this week on The Broadway menu.

Roast Duckling... that will become one of your pleasant memories —on The Broadway this week!

As the spring sun makes the sap stir, so this duckling makes your mouth water. It's as tender as young green shoots. Golden-roasted to perfection, juicy, savory, indescribably delicious.

Within the golden walls of duckling is a dressing of crisp celery and young onions, of finely cut ham, chopped livers, chopped parsley, an egg and a pinch of thyme, added to a basin of diced white bread. The whole is seasoned to suit tastes that are as discriminating as any king's.

The duckling, with its treasure of stuffing, is served piping hot—with cool, fresh apple sauce to bring out, by contrast, all its delicate flavor.

No wonder travelers write generously praising the cuisine on the Pennsylvania Dining Cars!

Roast Duckling Pennsylvania is a dish that makes long journeys seem shorter. Try it—on The Broadway this week.

TELLS HOW NORTH POLE DIRIGIBLE WON SKY BATTLE

Italian Airship Beats Storm; Lands Safely.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Copyright, 1923, by The Chicago Tribune.)
STOLP, Germany, April 16.—Battered, and its left stabilizing wing torn, Gen. Umberto Nobile's airship, the Italia, landed at Seddin, near Stolp, today. Captain and crew were undaunted by the cruel struggle with the elements last night, on the first lap of their journey to the north pole. The snowstorms played havoc with the Italia in the darkness over Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia, but in three days the dirigible will be ready to start trial flights, and in twelve days will leave on the second lap of the polar flight to Oule and Spitzbergen. Gen. Nobile made this announcement when he emerged, tired but victorious, from the gondola of the airship. His lively fox terrier, Titina, frisked joyfully at his side.

Nobile Tells of Battle.
"The Gliwits aviation station wires less repeatedly begged us to come down," the Italian commander said. "They would do everything to help us land, though they are not equipped for airships. We determined to reach our goal, so we cruised in the dark until we succeeded in resuming touch with the wireless stations at Prague and Lindenborg."
"The only moment of danger was when we were caught in the storm driving us toward the Carpathian mountains. The crew was marvelous. One could not find a better crew in the world."
There are fifteen men in the Nobile crew. Two of them are Swedish scientists.

Wrecked Zeppelin Plans.
Gen. Nobile was chief of the inter-allied commission controlling Germany after the signing of the Versailles treaty. It was the Italian commander who supervised the destruction of German's giant Zeppelin hangars, as prescribed by the peace treaty. He tried to interpret the clauses sensibly, without endangering the disarmament program.
Today, hands of German soldiers seized the guider rope of the Italia and steered it to safety, while German aviators stood side by side to keep back the crowds. Hundreds of placid Pomeranians cheered wildly when the Italia landed. Seeing the conflict between the police and the crowd, Gen. Nobile requested the authorities to wave aside the stringent regulations and let the population pour in to see the airship.

AIDS $1,000,000 HOSPITAL FOR COLORED PEOPLE

With one-third of Chicago's 35 hospitals with restrictions against that race, and with less than 100 beds available in the several all-colored institutions in the city, need for the new $1,000,000 hospital recently sponsored by Cardinal Mundelein for Chicago's ever increasing Negro population, was emphasized last night by Dr. Arthur F. Abt, president of the Chicago Medical society.

Dr. Abt spoke before a group of 100 colored physicians and nurses at a meeting in St. Elizabeth's hall, in charge of the Rev. Father Joseph F. Eckert, the pastor of the colored Catholic parish at 41st street and Wabash avenue.

Cardinal Mundelein has personally subscribed $5,000 towards the project, and a site for the institution has been picked at 48th street and Michigan avenue. Among other things, Dr. Abt pointed out that the colored population from 1910 to 1920 (to say nothing of the increase since then), increased 148 per cent, without any increase in hospitalization. He said that a survey by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, former health commissioner, showed 700 beds were needed to take care of Chicago's colored sick people; and that colored infant mortality was 136.7 per 1,000.

NEW WARRANTS NAME 25 GUNMEN AND GANGSTERS

Armed with vagrancy warrants, which, according to Commissioner of Detectives William E. O'Connor, are legally punitive proof and naming 25 of Chicago's most celebrated and infamous hoodlums, gunmen and gangsters, squads of detectives set out from the bureau last night seeking as many individuals, with the avowed purpose of convicting them under the vagrancy law.

O'Connor said he obtained the warrants after carefully compiling evidence against each individual, including their complete criminal records showing the number of times they were arrested and convicted, where they were arrested and why.

He would not state the names of the men sought, excepting to say all are well known hoodlums.

PHYSICIAN SLAIN IN HIS HOSPITAL BY MALE NURSE

Louisville, Ky., April 16.—(AP)—Dr. Christopher G. Schott, 51, central figure in the sensational Griffith murder case of nine years ago, was shot to death at his private sanatorium here today by one of his male employees.

Prior to the shooting, attendants of the hospital reported to the police, the physician had been drinking and had used abusive and profane language to women employees.

That was the statement of Dan Newman, 40, male nurse, who fired the shot that entered the doctor's heart.

On Christmas eve, 1913, Elizabeth Ford Griffith, 17, office girl in Schott's employ, was found shot to death on the floor of the physician's office on Chestnut street here. Schott was arrested on a charge of murder, but proved an alibi and never was indicted.

Aurora Cop Near Death After Battle with Youth

Thomas Richardson, 40 years old, an Aurora policeman, was reported near death last night from a wound in the abdomen, suffered in a pistol battle early in the morning with Delmar Miller, 17 years old, of Bloomington, whom he had arrested as an automobile thief. Richardson had searched Miller, but failed to find the small pistol he was carrying. On the way to the Aurora lockup the youth drew his weapon and began shooting. Despite his wound Richardson fired at Miller, struck him and took him to the station. There both men collapsed. A companion of Miller escaped during the fray.

Men who take loads off human backs take a load off your living costs

The cost of lifting loads, carrying them, and lowering them, is a part of the cost of everything you buy. Manufacturers call it the cost of material handling.

The manufacturers of material handling equipment are solving tremendous problems, saving millions of dollars in factories every day. By the development of efficient methods and machines, they are taking loads off men's backs and a load off your living costs.

Perhaps you've never seen material handling equipment—mighty cranes that pick up locomotives—machines that turn freight cars upside down and empty them—ingenious conveyor systems that carry half-built motor cars from one operation to another. But this equipment is working for you, as the men who create and build it are working for you.

For powering material handling equipment, as for every other application of electric drive, Westinghouse makes motors and control specifically adapted to the needs of industry. UNION RUINING MINES AND MEN, SENATORS TOLD

West Virginia Operators Bare 1927 Losses.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—(AP)—West Virginia operators testified today in the senate coal inquiry that their mines from 1922 through the first five months of 1927 had lost money at the rate of $40,000 yearly.

The testimony came from James D. and D. W. Boone, who gave the figures after the committee in executive session decided, over the protest of southern West Virginia nonunion operators, that the data were essential to the inquiry.

Coal mined at a cost of $1,544,409.28 brought a price of $1,320,072.61, the committee was told.

J. D. Bradley, president of the Elk River Coal and Lumber company of West Virginia, said that West Virginia's coal industry had expanded and prospered with the elimination of the United Mine Workers.

"That the union, as exemplified by the United Mine Workers of America, has failed, would seem to be obvious," Bradley said. "It only seems to have brought disaster to those operators who have entered into contracts with it. It has brought misery and poverty to the members who gave it their faith and hopes. This disaster has been so stupendous as to be an indictment of its leaders and its inherent policies."

Strikers Stone Workers.
Belleville, Ill., April 16.—(AP)—About 150 coal miners who have remained at work under a local continuation of the Jacksonville wage agreement were stoned today by several hundred men as they entered the Little Oak mine near here. Some were bruised. The windows of some of the thirty automobiles in which they were riding were broken. Among banners carried by the attacking party were two saying, "Don't be yellow," and "All work or none work."

Picket Threat Falls.
Springfield, Ill., April 16.—(AP)—Approximately 50 per cent of the miners employed at the Old West mine of the Panther Creek company returned to work peacefully today despite an attempt by members of the "save the union" organization, composed of miners who differ with the policies of the United Mine Workers, to picket the mine.

Union Men Indicted.
Pittsburgh, Pa., April 16.—(AP)—John Brophy, former district president of the United Mine Workers, and Patrick Toohy, editor of The Coal Digger, both of whom are leaders in the "Save the Union" movement, were indicted today on charges of rioting by a grand jury in the County court.

Heads of the committee claimed that their strikes call to nonunion miners, effective today, had been successful. They said that they expected more than 100,000 men in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Ohio would join the strike.

Operators said the call had no effect whatever on their men and that the mines were working with normal forces.

296 Miners Evicted.
Columbus, O., April 16.—(AP)—All Ohio miners and their families evicted from their homes under federal court order yesterday peacefully complied with the order, United States Marshal Stanley G. Barthwick said today, returning from the eastern Ohio coal fields.

The eviction order affected 296 miners and their families, but many of them had moved in advance of the final date.

VISITORS INSPECT NEW QUARTERS OF STATE BANK

Visitors at the State Bank of Chicago yesterday were conducted by officials on an inspection tour of the seven floors, four above and three below ground, that constitute the institution's new quarters in the building recently completed on the site of the old W. C. T. U. temple.

The move from the bank's former location at 135 West Washington street, which had served for forty-nine years, was made after the close of business Saturday. Armed squads of detectives and police protected the transfer of $250,000,000 in cash and securities through the loop.

Officers of the bank include H. A. Haugen, chairman of the board of directors; Oscar H. Haugen, vice chairman; L. A. Goddard, chairman of the executive committee; C. E. Carlson, Walter J. Cox, and Fred H. Carpenter, vice presidents.

Jury Frees Murder Suspect in 3 Minutes, Record Time

Joseph Scalpinato, 25, of 281 South State street, world war veteran, was acquitted yesterday by a jury in Judge Frank Comerford's court on a charge of murdering Henry J. Kelley, 725 South State street, a watchman, Kelley was attacked by a man with a billiard cue last November. When he overpowered his assailant the latter shot him. James Fry, who was with Kelley at the time of the shooting, could not be found and the only other evidence was a dying declaration, which was ruled out by the judge. Scalpinato denied being Kelley's assailant and produced an alibi.

THE SILK ENSEMBLE

with the cape that is a coat and the coat that is a jacket

Fashion now cuts the coat to finger tip length as her newest whim in the ensemble. Thus we have both the vogue for the jacket and the ensemble at once, and altogether the newest phase of each. Since color plays an important part, the blouse is gayly striped in black, white and red, and just as gayly makes the fashion what it is . . . exquisite!

The Cape Ensemble has a dual personality. It is neither a cape nor coat, but it is both. It is a cape by virtue of its sleevelessness and a coat by virtue of its lines. On the whole, it is the most recent development in the mode, and quite the cleverest. Particularly clever is the little printed frock that joins it in chic, and repeats itself in the lining. A most desirable fashion at a most desirable price.45.00

ROBINSON SPLITS DRYS ON BIRDS OF FEATHER TALK

Indians Revolt Against Shumaker Rule.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

(Chicago Tribune Staff Writer.)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 16.—(Special.)—Indiana drys are divided and the uprising against the anti-klan machine politics appears to be accompanied by a revolt in the dry ranks against Rev. E. S. Shumaker, Anti-Saloon league boss, who was convicted of contempt of court. Shumaker is supporting Senator Arthur R. Robinson, and lately suggested him for successor to the late Senator Frank R. Williams of Ohio, as dry floor leader in the senate.

The Flying Squadron foundation, however, which was founded by the late Gov. J. Frank Hanly, one of the great prohibition leaders, is manifesting friendliness towards Judge Solon J. Carter, one of Robinson's opponents in the May 3 primaries. In the National Enquirer, the organ of the Flying Squadron, an utterance on the voters that on the basis of Judge Carter's statements on the liquor question "Drys need not be afraid to support him."

His Robinson Liability.

As to Robinson, the old Hanly dry leaders say he has been "dependably dry" in his voting, but that he has a lot of liabilities. The editorial in the Enquirer enumerates some of these, among them the famous "birds of the feather" speech of Robinson attacking Gov. Al Smith in the senate.

"Whatever may be the facts," says the Flying Squadron organ, "he (Robinson) is charged with having had affiliations with D. C. Stephenson, who resides in the penitentiary and with others of Indiana's now none so popular leaders of the Ku Klux Klan."

"His prestige is suffering acutely from what was, to say the least, a blunder—namely: his feeble and futile effort to meet the charges against Republicans in connection with the oil scandals by bringing similar indictments of Democrats. Whether just or no, because of these things, considerable disadvantage accrues to Senator Robinson as a candidate."

Carter Challenges Robinson.

Judge Carter, taking up the "birds of a feather" speech, has sent Senator Robinson a letter challenging him to reply to the charges made by Democratic senators in response to Robinson's utterance.

"In order that there could be no mistake," reads the Carter letter, "these charges were reduced to writing and read on the floor of the senate and you were requested to set out your answer to each of the points raised."

"It is obvious these charges were made as a background for the campaign which the Democrats expect to conduct against you and the Republican party if you are the nominee. If they are not true, they should be set at rest without delay.

"On the floor of the senate this particular charge was made: 'I might venture to ask, however, if the legal birds with whom the senator has flocked—his Indianapolis law firm—has not done a large business in representing bootleggers and other violators of the law in the courts of Indiana, while the senator, I am told, has gone hither and thither about the state making speeches, under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon league, which paid his expenses, upholding the sacredness of the prohibition law whose workings have been so profitable as well as sacred, to these legal flockings of the senator's.'"

"Your answer to these charges is of peculiar interest and of great importance to the Republicans in this state who are interested in the enforcement of law and in the repression of the liquor traffic. We are entitled to have your answer within the next week or ten days at the latest."

Senator Robinson is expected back in Indiana Friday, and the politicians expect the campaigning will forthwith become furious.

Politicians in most of the camps take the view that if Robinson fails to land a clear majority at the primaries over his two opponents, Judge Carter and Attorney General Arthur Gilliom, his chances will be slight of getting the nomination in the state convention, which will be anti-klan. To win directly at the primaries requires a majority of the votes cast on the office.

Meanwhile, the Democrats, too, are opening up.

"Are Hiram Evans and his Ku Klux Klan bigger than either or both political parties?" is the issue as set forth in a booklet today by Walter Myers, one of the three Democratic contenders for the senate. Myers ran for mayor of Indianapolis in 1925 against Duval, who was convicted and dismissed from office, and was beaten by Stephenson and the Klan by only some 7,000. Myers carried Stephenson's home ward against him.

Absentee Political Landlord.

"Does Indiana need an absentee political landlord, or a boss of the bosses?" inquires Candidate Myers. "The state cannot continue half D. C. Stephenson and half Tom Adams."

Whatever may be your private opinion of Tom Adams, he is a bold editor, he has guts and is not to be swayed from the road of public duty by questionable detour signs.

"Since it cannot be denied that Stephenson elected Jackson, since Jackson appointed Robinson to the senate upon the death of Samuel M. Ralston, and since things which are equal to the same thing are equal to each other, it follows that Senator Robinson is of the fruit and flower of the Stephenson régime. If he had not been in jail, Stephenson would doubtless have been appointed to the senate himself."

"This state is too big for Stephenson to be the law. Hoosiers are free born and can manage their own affairs, and as long as they have hair on their chests, red blood in their veins, and honor in their hearts they intend to do so."

"Republicans and Democrats have both been so basely deceived that no one connected with the deceivers is going to be nominated or elected on either ticket."

MULE KICKS LITTLE GIRL.
Branfordville, Ind., April 16.—(Special.)—Mrs. Joseph Koenig, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koenig, is in a critical condition in St. Mary's hospital here, having been kicked in the head by a mule.

MUSSOLINI MAPS DRIVE TO KEEP ITALIANS ITALIAN

Would Help Women Return to Bear Children.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
ROME, April 16.—The ministry of foreign affairs, through Pietro Parini, fascist party secretary for Fascism abroad, has sent Italian diplomatic representatives and 500 fascist organizations abroad added instructions for assistance and facilities to Italian communities in foreign lands. The new instructions supplement the statutes governing Fascism abroad.
According to these new instructions, which further formulate the policy of the fascist government to prevent the denationalization of emigrants, Italian, all diplomatic representatives, and fascist leaders abroad must conduct an active campaign among their emigrant countrymen to induce them to preserve adherence to the mother country.

How It's to Be Done.

In a practical way this work can be done, according to the instructions, in several ways.
For instance, prospective mothers living in countries not too far from the Italian frontier must be aided in every way to permit them to cross the borders and bear their children within the boundaries of Italy. The assistance includes free transportation facilities to and from the place of residence abroad and free treatment in Italian national institutions.
Ordinary frontier regulations are to be overlooked in such cases. The same facilities are to be extended to wives of men known to be enemies of the fascist regime. Within Italy the same privileges are to be given to women who wish to have their children born in home towns and among relatives.

Free to Visit Italy.

Italians who have left the country but who preserve their Italian citizenship despite the economic advantages they might enjoy by taking the citizenship of the country in which they reside, are to be given a tangible recognition of their attachment to the mother country. The nature of this tangible recognition is not specified.

SOVIETS STIR WAR TALK TO SCARE OFF POLISH LOAN

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

WARSAW, April 16.—Alarming reports have been received by the Estonian and Latvian governments from their ministers at Moscow concerning the intention of the bolsheviks to invade the Baltic states within the next two months. The cabinets of both countries discussed the information, which is supported by the presence of new Russian troops along the frontiers. Latvia and Estonia are united by a defensive treaty. They are preparing to hurry the spring military maneuvers, which will be held jointly along the eastern frontiers.
These reports are said to be connected with the visit of A. A. Tilye, president of the Bankers' Trust company of New York, to discuss financial questions with the Poles. Moscow is said to be so eager to spoil Poland's chances to obtain new loans that the Red army's spring maneuvers will again be directed against the Baltic states in an effort to give the financiers the impression that Poland and the Baltic states are poor places to invest capital.

Yesterday Mr. Tilye, William Lipincott, the Bankers' Trust company's Paris representative, and John Foster Dulles, attorney, conferred with Charles S. Dewey, the American financial adviser to Poland, the president of the Polish state bank, and the Polish finance minister.

The meeting did not discuss a new loan to the Polish government, and the Poles did not ask for an additional loan. Instead, the New York bankers found the financial situation of Poland satisfactory and further Polish borrowing will consist of private loans for industry and economic institutions not connected with the government.

Blindfolded...in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Morgan Belmont selects OLD GOLD

"In my travels here and abroad I have often wished that I might find a cigarette of pleasing flavor which would not rasp my throat or bite my tongue.

"The blindfold test has proved to me that I need seek no further... For one of the four cigarettes given me to smoke had just the qualities I've always desired.

"The pleasant, smooth cigarette I named as my choice turned out to be an OLD GOLD... No wonder so many of my friends prefer this brand. I too find OLD GOLD the most delightful cigarette of all."

In case after case, where the leading cigarettes have been compared by blindfolded smokers, OLD GOLD has been selected as the most appealing cigarette. Because they're made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant... Nature's finest tobacco. That's the reason for OLD GOLD's honey-like smoothness. That's why you can pick them, even in the dark.

HOME FURNISHING SECTIONS... Reflect the Sparkling Charm of Spring in Their New Display Arrangements—and Offer Much in Beauty and Much in Value!

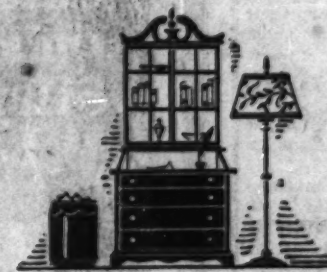

HERE, amid settings as fine in taste as the merchandise, choice takes on an added pleasure. Rugs gleam against polished floors, as in one's own home. Tables set with lovely china and sparkling glass have a gay and social air. Rich draperies or bright chintzes unfold their colorful lengths against windows. In the Household Utilities Section, the modern note of color gives a gay exterior to the most utilitarian of articles.

THE services of skilled decorators are always available—whether the problem be a simple one or the more complicated. On the ninth, Wabash, are the Decorating Studios. On the sixth, State, is the Home Beautiful Service.

AND the Furniture Floors! Here in little display alcoves are entire suites of furniture in room arrangement. Here are those "single" pieces that give a new meaning and character to a room. All in skillfully assembled groups that seem to have anticipated the most varied tastes and preferences—the most widely divergent plans of expenditure. Always there is that quality which gives permanent worth to beauty.

WE believe this store, through its Home Furnishing Sections, may be of unusually worth while assistance during these home renovating days. Each section is represented here with typically fine values.

A Ladder-Back Chair $16.50

Is in mahogany finish and has a rush seat. It is appropriate with a desk and is good taste in a breakfast room or informal living room. Other equally good values at $7.50 to $25.

A Dining Set of All Walnut Seven Pieces, $135

Oblong, as is smart these days, and so exceedingly well made of such fine woods that the value is quite remarkable at this price. The chairs have panel backs. Simple and very attractive in design.

Tapestry or Velour Coverings

Are used on the slip seats. Patterns are colorful and well chosen for this type of set. Excellent value at $135. Other equally good values in dining room sets at $115 to $900.

Linoleums Gain Favor Through Smartness

They have come to have such real beauty in design and so much interest in coloring that linoleums have gained for themselves a very firm place in modern homes.

Inlaid Designs—Square Yard $1.20 to $3.50

Specially constructed displays in the section show exactly how the linoleums will look when they are in the home. This adds much to the facilities of choosing. Others $1.65 and $2.25.

New York, April 16.—With a sudden development of interest in the oil market today was highly irregular, closing with a long list of net declines of from one to nine points and a somewhat smaller list of net gains of from one to eight points. Trading was heavy and total sales passed the 1,000,000 share mark for the sixth consecutive day.

The oil market was a sensational advance. Standard Oil was up 3½ points; Lago 2½; Sun Oil, 3; Standard Oil of California, 2½; Standard Oil of New Jersey, 2½; and Houston Oil, 4½. There was apparently nothing in the outside news to account for the buying. It was simply that Wall street had come to the conclusion that the oil trade had turned the corner at last.

Walla Group Little Changed.

The main body of stocks hovered and closed below the final levels of Saturday. United States Steel, Radio Corporation and General Motors were reactionary most of the day and closed with net losses ranging up to almost three points. On the other hand notable gains were made by General Electric, up ½ point; Columbia Gas, ¾; Consolidated Gas, ¾; General Asphalt, ¾; and Gimbel Brothers, ¾.

General Motors Sold Heavily.

General Motors was sold heavily right from the start. The opening was down almost 2 points. Another conspicuously weak issue was Bethlehem Steel. It closed off 1½ points.

Radio Corporation made a new low on its present reaction, showing a loss of almost 5 points at 161½.

It recovered somewhat before the close. General Highway Signal was actively weak, making a new low for the year at 90½. Its net loss for the day was 4 points. Mack Trucks dipped below 87 for a new 1928 low.

The independent motors lost ground almost uniformly.

Hudson, Hupp, and Willys Overland suffered losses of almost 2 points each. Nash sold at a new low on the movement.

The bulls were not immune from the selling, but activity was not pronounced.

Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central, and Erie were down, while Texas and Pacific had a net loss of 2 points.

100,000 SHARE DAY OPENS TRADING IN NEW STOCK EXCHANGE

The Chicago stock exchange celebrated the first day in its new home in the State Bank building yesterday by continuing the 100,000 share stride maintained throughout every full trading day last week. The market was irregularly higher.

Pines Winterront was the feature, selling up 9½ points to 97 before closing at 98½, up 8½ on the day. The action was attributed to buying by New York interests. Meadows Manufacturing was another strong spot, gaining 2½ to 32 on pool activity coupled with reports of substantial increases in business and improved earnings prospects.

On the fractional gains were registered by Fote Bros. Gear, Grigsby-Grunow, Club Aluminum and Gossard. Northwest Engineering featured the soft side with a loss of 1½. Campbell, Wyant & Cannon Foundry sold off 1½ and Island Wire and Consumers declined a fraction each.

On small sales, Hart, Schaffner & Marx sold up 2½ and advances of a point each were made by Decker & Cohn, Evans "B," and Kuppenheimer.

Consumers preferred declined 1½. Commonwealth-Edison eased 2 points, and Monsanto Chemical was down a point.

The world's greatest manufacturers

The automotive business is not much more than twenty-five years old but it is the largest single industry in the country today.

Smart manufacturers—these! They have taken advantage of every opportunity that progress offers. For instance—alloy steels!

The remarkable development in automobile design and construction, and the success of manufacturers in that industry, is due in no small measure to the intelligent use of the proper alloy steels. What kind of steel are you using—just ordinary steel or what? Better look into it.

Perhaps the improvement of the automobile holds a hint for the improvement of your product—the right alloy steel in the right place will save you trouble and money. An Interstate Metallurgist is ready to work with you anytime without obligation. Write us today.

Water Company
BONDS

Water Service is so vitally necessary that in many cities the water companies are owned and operated by the cities themselves.

The earnings of privately owned water companies have been found to be very steady, due to the fact that these companies furnish what is conceded to be the most necessary public utility service.

Are Your Real Estate Bonds Selling High or Low?

"Are my real estate bonds selling for more than I paid for them?"
"Can I buy other real estate bonds of equal safety at prices which will bring me a higher yield?"
These are two questions you can easily keep in mind.

Real estate bonds, provided they are issued by well-known houses, can be bought and sold through the M.W. Brademann Company which maintains the largest open market for this type of security. Our booklet,
"Finding a Market for Your Real Estate Bonds," explains fully how to sell or buy bonds at advantageous prices.

WHAT IS SHOWN IN EMPLOYMENT OF STATE IN MARCH

BY O. A. MATHER.

Evidence that the much discussed unemployment situation is improving is contained in data concerning Illinois, one of the chief industrial states.
The state department of labor yesterday reported improvement last month.
The volume of employment in Illinois gained seven-tenths of 1 per cent during March, the department says.
Building contractors and metal manufacturers made increases which counterbalanced reductions in many major industries, notably clothing, meat packing and printing. All of which are undergoing seasonal recessions. Further support for the upward trend in employment came from farms and railroads, both of which have shown considerable interest in the labor market in the last 30 days.

Drop in Job Seekers.

The ratio of applicants per 100 jobs at the free employment offices during March was 17.2, compared with 18.8 in February and 17.5 in January, 1927. There has been one-tenth of 1 per cent less money paid in wages than in February.
The difference in the movement of employment and pay rolls is largely due to the clothing industry in which the payments decline much more than the rate in total working forces.

The condition of the coal mining industry is unfavorable. The standard of both mine operators and unions.
Employment failed to reach its former level under the 1927 temporary agreements. Not in 1928. The number of men employed in the industry in February, 1927, 103,656 in 1923, a record employment year in Illinois mines.

New Gold Export Record.

The tendency toward firmer money rates as the result of recent large exports of gold was commented on by the federal reserve board yesterday. However, the gold stock of the United States still represents about half of the world's monetary stock.
Exports of gold last month amounted to $27,000,000, a new high monthly record.
But the net loss was only $55,000, due to gold "in transit" which was shipped out of the country but not yet banked. The actual loss of gold in the last seven months has been $283,000,000, but the gold stock of the United States on March 31 still stood at $1,465,000,000.
In the first quarter of this year the actual loss of gold was $74,000,000, compared with a gain of more than $100, 000,000 in the first quarter of 1927.

Foreign Trade Expands.

There was a marked expansion in the nation's foreign trade during March.
Imports of merchandise amounted to $382,000,000, the largest total since April,
1926, and compared with $355,000,000 in February, and $378,331,000 in March, a year ago.
Exports jumped to $422,000,000, the largest since November of last year and compared with $373,000,000 in February and $373,000,000 in March, 1927. The so-called "favorable" balance of trade for March, 1928, compared with $20,000,000 in February and $30,000,000 in March last year.

Parliament report of the Chicago, Rock and Pacific railway for 1927 shows little change from the preliminary report, previously published. The net income for 1927 was $12,664,230, compared with $12,515,480 for 1926. The gross income was $14,066,290, an increase of $1,716,576 over the previous year.

A statement of ownership of the stock disclosed that President Coolidge's ownership had increased from 50 shares of common to 70, due to the 40 per cent stock dividend declared last year, and that the holdings of many large shareholders had similarly been augmented.

Changes in the bylaws adopted by the stockholders provided that the chairman of the board and finance committee no longer should be executive officers, but that executive officers should be chosen by the stockholders and be under their control. President James A. Farrell becomes chief executive officer.
Other changes call for future meetings to be held in New York City and increase the finance committee from eight to nine members.
